FOR THE YEAR
1930

IN FOUR VOLUMES
VOLUME 1 - PROCEEDINGS

UNITED STATES
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE
WASHINGTON : 1931

LETTER OF SUBMITTAL

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION,

Washington, D. C., July 1, 1931.

To the Congress of the United States:

In accordance with the act of incorporation of the American Historical Association approved January 4, 1889, I have the honor of submitting to Congress the annual report of the association for the year 1930. I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

C. G. ABBOT, Secretary.

ACT OF INCORPORATION

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Andrew D. White, of Ithaca, in the State of New York; George Bancroft, of Washington, in the District of Columbia; Justin Winsor, of Cambridge, in the State of Massachusetts; William F. Poole, of Chicago, in the State of Illinois; Herbert B. Adams, of Baltimore, in the State of Maryland; Clarence W. Bowen, of Brooklyn, in the State of New York, their associates and successors, are hereby created, in the District of Columbia, a body corporate and politic by the name of the American Historical Association, for the promotion of historical studies, the collection and preservation of historical manuscripts, and for kindred purposes in the interest of American history and of history in America. Said association is authorized to hold real and personal estate in the District of Columbia so far as may be necessary to its lawful ends to an amount not exceeding $500,000, to adopt a constitution, and make by-laws not inconsistent with law. Said association shall have its principal office at Washington, in the District of Columbia, and may hold its annual meetings in such places as the said incorporators shall determine. Said association shall report annually to the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution concerning its proceedings and the condition of historical study in America. Said secretary shall communicate to Congress the whole of such report, or such portions thereof as he shall see fit. The Regents of the Smithsonian Institution are authorized to permit said association to deposit its collections, manuscripts, books, pamphlets, and other material for history in the Smithsonian Institution or in the National Museum at their discretion, upon such conditions and under such rules as they shall prescribe.

[Approved, January 4, 1889.]

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

40 B Street SW.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

MAY 1, 1931.

SIR: As provided by law, we submit herewith the annual report of the American Historical Association for the year 1930. This consists of four volumes, as follows:

Volume I contains the proceedings of the forty-fifth annual meeting of the association held in Boston and Cambridge, Mass., December 29-31, 1930; the proceedings of the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch held at Stanford University, Calif., on December 29 and 30, 1930; notes from the archives of Scotland concerning America, by Dr. J. Franklin Jameson; and a list of manuscript collections in the Library of Congress to July, 1931, compiled by Curtis Wiswell Garrison.

Volume II contains a bibliography of writings on American history during the year 1930, prepared by Miss Grace Gardner Griffin; Volume III, a guide for the study of British Caribbean history, 1763-1834, including the abolition and emancipation movements, by Lowell Joseph Ragatz; and Volume IV, the diary of Edward Bates, attorney general in Lincoln's cabinet, 1859-1866, edited by Howard K. Beale.

LEO F. STOCK,

Chairman, Committee on Publications.

LOWELL JOSEPH RAGATZ,

Editor.

To the SECRETARY OF THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION,

Washington, D. C.

I

The name of this society shall be the American Historical Association.

II

Its object shall be the promotion of historical studies.

III

Any person approved by the council may become a member by paying $5 and after the first year may continue a member by paying an annual fee of $5. On payment of $100 any person may become a life member exempt from fees. Persons not resident in the United States may be elected as honorary or corresponding members and be exempt from the payment of fees.

IV

The officers shall be a president, a first vice president, a second vice president, a secretary, a treasurer, an assistant secretary-treasurer, and an editor.

The president, vice presidents, secretary, and treasurer shall be elected by ballot at each regular annual meeting in the manner provided in the by-laws.

The assistant secretary-treasurer and the editor shall be elected by the council. They shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as the council may determine.

If the office of president shall, through any cause, become vacant, the first vice president shall thereupon become president, and the second vice president shall become first vice president whenever the office of first vice president shall have been vacated.

There shall be a council, constituted as follows:

1. The president, the vice presidents, the secretary, and the treasurer.
2. Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot at the annual meeting of the association. At the election of 1931, the persons so elected shall be assigned to four equal classes, the members of which shall be elected to serve respectively, for 1, 2, 3, and 4 years. Subsequent elections in each class shall be for four years, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms.
3. The former presidents, but a former president shall be entitled to vote for the three years succeeding the expiration of his term as president, and no longer.

¹As amended at the annual business meeting held on Dec. 30, 1930. See p. 38.

VI

The council shall conduct the business, manage the property, and care for the general interests of the association. In the exercise of its proper functions, the council may appoint such committees, commissions, and boards as it may deem necessary. The council shall make a full report of its activities to the annual meeting of the association. The association may by vote at any annual meeting instruct the council to discontinue or enter upon any activity, and may take such other action in directing the affairs of the association as it may deem necessary and proper.

For the transaction of necessary business when the council is not in session, the council shall elect annually an executive committee of not more than six members, which shall include the secretary and the treasurer, and may include not more than two persons not members of the council. Subject to the general direction of the council, the executive committee shall be responsible for the management of association interests and the carrying out of association policies.

The council, or when the council is not in session, the executive committee, shall have authority to appoint an executive secretary, delegating to him such functions as may from time to time seem desirable and determining his compensation.

This constitution may be amended at any annual meeting, notice of such amendment having been given at the previous annual meeting or the proposed amendment having received the approval of the council.

BY-LAWS

I

The officers provided for by the constitution shall have the duties and perform the functions customarily attached to their respective offices with such others as may from time to time be prescribed.

II

A nomination committee of five members shall be chosen at each annual business meeting in the manner hereafter provided for the election of officers of the association. At such convenient time prior to the 15th of September as it may determine it shall invite every member to express to it his preference regarding every office to be filled by election at the ensuing annual business meeting and regarding the composition of the new nominating committee then to be chosen. It shall publish and mail to each member at least one month prior to the annual business meeting such nominations as it may determine upon for each elective office and for the next nominating committee. It shall prepare for use at the annual business meeting an official ballot containing, as candidates for each office or committee membership to be filled thereat, the names of its nominees and also the names of any other nominees which may be proposed to the chairman of the committee in writing by 20 or more members of the association at least one day before the annual business meeting, but such nominations by petition shall not be presented until after the committee shall have reported its nominations to the association as provided for in the present by-law. The official ballot shall also provide, under each office, a blank space for voting for such further nominees as any member may present from the floor at the time of the election.

III

The annual election of officers and the choice of a nominating committee for the ensuing year shall be conducted by the use of an official ballot prepared as described in By-law II.

IV

The association authorizes the payment of traveling expenses incurred by the voting members of the council attending one meeting of that body a year, this meeting to be other than that held in connection with the annual meeting of the association.

The council may provide for the payment of expenses incurred by the secretary, the assistant secretary-treasurer, and the editor in such travel as may be necessary to the transaction of the association's business.

ORGANIZATION AND ACTIVITIES

The American Historical Association is the national organization for the promotion of historical writing and studies in the United States. It was founded in 1884 by a group of representative scholars, and in 1889 was chartered by Congress. Its national character is emphasized by fixing its principal office in Washington and by providing for the publication of its annual reports by the United States Government through the Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. The membership of the association, at present about 3,600, is drawn from every State in the Union as well as from Canada and South America. To all who desire to promote the development of history, local, national, or general, and to all who believe that a correct knowledge of the past is essential to a right understanding of the present, the association makes a strong appeal through its publications and other activities.

The meetings of the association are held annually during the last week in December in cities so chosen as to accommodate in turn the members living in different parts of the country, and the average attendance is about 400.

The meetings afford an opportunity for members to become personally acquainted and to discuss matters in which they have a common interest.

The principal publications of the association are the annual report and the American Historical Review. The former, now consisting of three or four volumes, is printed for the association by the Government and is distributed free to the first 2,000 members paying their dues and requesting it. It contains the proceedings of the association and of the Pacific Coast branch, as well as valuable collections of documents, edited by the historical manuscripts commission, reports on American archives, prepared by the public archives commission, bibliographical contributions, and reports on history teaching and the activities of historical societies.

The American Historical Review is the official organ of the association and the recognized organ of the historical profession in the United States. It is published quarterly, each number containing about 225 pages. It presents to the reader authoritative articles, critical reviews of important new works on history, groups of inedited documents, and news of many and varied activities in the field of history. The Review is indispensable to all who wish to keep abreast of the progress of historical scholarship, and is of much value and interest to the general reader. It is distributed to all members of the association in part return for their dues.

To encourage historical research, the association offers certain cash prizes and a medal, described in detail elsewhere.¹

The association has devoted much and consistent attention to the subject of history teaching through conferences held at the annual meetings, the investigations of committees, and the preparation of reports. The association has a close advisory relationship with the Historical Outlook, that valuable organ of those engaged in teaching history and the social studies. A standing committee on history teaching gives constant attention to that vital part of the school curriculum.

The association maintains close relations with the State and local historical societies through a conference organized under the auspices of the association and holding a meeting each year in connection with the annual meeting of the association. In this meeting of delegates the various societies discuss such problems as the collection and editing of historical material, the maintenance of museums and libraries, the fostering of popular interest in historical matters, the marking of sites, the observance of historical anniversaries, etc.

The Pacific Coast Branch of the association, organized in 1904, affords an opportunity for the members living in the Far West to have meetings and an organization of their own while retaining full membership in the parent body. In 1915 the association met with the branch in San Francisco, Berkeley, and Palo Alto in celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal.

From the first the association has pursued the policy of inviting to its membership not only those professionally or otherwise actively engaged in historical work but also those whose interest in history or in the advancement of historical science is such that they wish to ally themselves with the association in the furtherance of its various objects. Thus the association counts among its members lawyers, clergymen, editors, publishers, physicians, officers of the Army and Navy, merchants, bankers, and farmers—all of whom find material of especial interest in its publications.

Membership in the association is obtained through election by the executive council, upon nomination by a member or by direct application. The annual dues are $5, there being no initiation fee. The fee for life membership is $100, which secures exemption from all annual dues.

Inquiries respecting the association, its work, publications, prizes, meetings, membership, etc., should be addressed to the assistant secretary at 40 B Street SW., Washington, D. C., from whom they will receive prompt attention.

PRIZES AND MEDAL OFFERED BY THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

THE JUSTIN WINSOR AND THE HERBERT BAXTER ADAMS PRIZES¹

For the purpose of encouraging historical research, the American Historical Association offers two prizes of $200 each: The Justin Winsor prize in American history and the Herbert Baxter Adams prize in the history of the Eastern Hemisphere. The Winsor prize is offered in the even years and the Adams prize in the odd years. Both prizes are designed to encourage writers who have not published previously any considerable work or obtained an established reputation. Either prize shall be awarded for an excellent monograph or essay, printed or in manuscript, submitted to the committee of award. Monographs must be submitted on or before April 1 of the given year. In the case of a printed monograph the date of publication must fall within a period of two and a quarter years prior to April 1. A monograph to which a prize has been awarded in manuscript may, if it is deemed in all respects advisable, be published in the annual report of the association. Competition shall be limited to monographs written or published in the English language by writers of the Western Hemisphere.

In making the awards, the committees will consider not only research, accuracy, and originality, but also clearness of expression and logical arrangement. The successful monographs must reveal marked excellence of style. Their subject matter should afford a distinct contribution to knowledge of a sort beyond that having merely personal or local interest. The monographs must conform to the accepted canons of historical research and criticism. A manuscript—including text, notes, bibliography, appendices, etc.—must not exceed 100,000 words if designed for publication in the annual report of the association.

The Justin Winsor prize: The monograph must be based upon independent and original investigation in American history. The phrase "American history" includes the history of the United States and other countries of the Western Hemisphere. The monograph may deal with any aspect or phase of that history.

The Herbert Baxter Adams prize: The monograph must be based upon independent and original investigation in the history of the Eastern Hemisphere. The monograph may deal with any aspect or phase of that history, as in the case of the Winsor prize.

THE GEORGE LOUIS BEER PRIZE

In accordance with the terms of a bequest by the late George Louis Beer, of New York City, the American Historical Association offers the George Louis Beer prize in European international history. The prize is $250 and is awarded annually for the best work upon "any phase of European international history since 1895."

¹ The Justin Winsor prize has been discontinued as of 1930; the Herbert Baxter Adams prize will be discontinued as of 1931.

The competition is limited to citizens of the United States and to works that shall be submitted to the American Historical Association. A work may be submitted in either manuscript or print.

Works must be submitted on or before April 1 of each year in order to be considered for the competition of that year. In the case of printed works the date of publication must fall within a period of two and a quarter years prior to April 1.

A work submitted in competition for the Herbert Baxter Adams prize may at the same time, if its subject meets the requirements, be submitted for the George Louis Beer prize; but no work that shall have been so submitted for both prizes will be admitted to the competition for the Beer prize in any subsequent year.

In making the award the committee in charge will consider not only research, accuracy, and originality, but also clearness of expression, logical arrangement and general excellence of style.

The prize is designed especially to encourage those who have not published previously any considerable work or obtained an established reputation.

Only works in the English language will receive consideration.

THE JOHN H. DUNNING PRIZE

In accordance with the terms of a bequest by the late Miss Mathilde M. Dunning, of New York, the American Historical Association offers the John H. Dunning prize. The conditions governing the award of this prize are as follows:

1. That the scope of the John H. Dunning prize in American history shall include any and all subjects relating to the political and social transformation of the Southern States since 1865, provided that said subjects have antecedents in, or are related to, conditions in those States prior to 1876.

2. That the prize amounting to $200 shall be awarded biennially, beginning in December, 1929, to a member of the association.

3. That a standing committee of three be appointed to consider essays submitted, to make the award, and to formulate regulations necessary for this work.

* (As in the case of the other prizes, monographs must be submitted on or before April 1 of the given year, and the date of publication of printed monographs must fall within a period of two and a quarter years prior to that of April 1.)

THE JUSSELAND MEDAL

The Jusserand medal will be awarded, as occasion may arise, for a published work of distinction on any phase involving the history of the intellectual relations between the United States and any foreign country, whether such work be written by an American citizen or by a citizen of a foreign country.

Inquiries concerning these prizes and the medal should be addressed to the chairmen of the respective committees, or to the secretary of the American Historical Association, 40 B Street SW., Washington, D. C.

MINUTES OF THE BUSINESS MEETING OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION HELD IN THE FOGG ART MUSEUM, DECEMBER 30, 1930, AT 3 P. M., PRESIDENT GREENE PRESIDING

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The secretary read his annual report. The report is appended.²³ It was voted to accept the report and place it on file.

In the absence of the treasurer, the secretary presented the treasurer's report²⁴ and made brief explanations with regard thereto. It was voted to accept the report and place it on file.

In conformity with custom, the secretary read a list of names of members deceased during the past year.^{24a}

Dr. J. Franklin Jameson read a brief notice with regard to the life and works of Prof. E. D. Adams, late vice president of the association.²⁵

The secretary presented to the meeting certain amendments approved by the council. These amendments were put to a vote and unanimously passed. They are appended.²⁶

The secretary presented to the meeting a resolution of the council recommending that in 1931 the association should meet in Minneapolis, Minn. The recommendation was unanimously approved.

Prof. A. B. Hart addressed the meeting briefly in behalf of the United States Commission for the Celebration of the Two-hundredth Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington, explaining the work of the commission. Professor Hart suggested the appointment of an advisory committee of the association to co-operate with the commission. A motion was made to this effect and adopted unanimously.

The meeting then proceeded with the election of officers for 1931. Ballots were distributed containing the names of the following:

President: Carl Becker.

First vice president: Herbert E. Bolton.

Second vice president: Charles A. Beard.

Secretary: Dexter Perkins.

Treasurer: Constantine E. McGuire.

Executive council: Samuel E. Morison, Winfred T. Root, Elizabeth Donnan, Joseph G. De Rouilhac Hamilton, Dixon R. Fox, Ulrich B. Phillips, Charles W. Ramsdell, Christopher B. Coleman.

Nominating committee: Chester P. Higby, chairman; Frederick Merk, Samuel F. Bemis, Arthur C. Cole, Bessie L. Pierce.

It was moved that the secretary cast one vote in favor of the candidates named thereon. The motion was carried.

The meeting adjourned at 4.30 p. m.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

To the members of the American Historical Association:

In bringing my report to you from the council this year it seems proper that first attention should be given to the financial situation of the association. At the business meeting a year ago I reported that the council had appointed a special committee of five members to consider fully the problem of endowment, and especially to recommend a policy with regard to the future. This committee was under the chairmanship of Prof. Christopher B. Coleman, and it has recently presented its conclusions to the council. The committee is of the opinion that the methods employed during the past three years—that is, the efforts to collect funds through an organization of committees nation-wide in scope—have reached the limits of their usefulness. On the other hand, it is obvious that the association can wisely use funds much larger than it at present possesses. It is proposed, therefore, that there be created a small committee which shall continue the canvass for further gifts, and which shall seek to interest, in particular, those who might be willing to give substantial assistance to advance the work of the association.

Let no member of the association be under any illusions as to our present financial situation. In some quarters I find the impression prevails that we are exceedingly well off. As a matter of fact, in the course of the last year the budget of the association revealed a substantial deficit. At the November meeting of the council a special finance committee was appointed, under the chairmanship of Mr. Waldo G. Leland, to recommend ways and means of providing for a balanced budget for the year 1931. This committee has already made a number of important recommendations, which have been approved by the council and which will mean that the budget will balance in 1931. The gratitude of the association is already due Mr. Leland and his colleagues for the ingenuity and efficiency and promptitude displayed in indicating to us a solution of the existing problem. The members of the association should, however, fully understand the conditions which exist. It so happened that at the very moment when the association, by its endowment campaign, had found itself possessed of greatly increased resources, it also found itself with enlarged obligations. The assumption of all the expenses connected with the management and editing of the Review has added something like $7,000 to the annual budget. When it is also taken into consideration that a not inconsiderable portion of the endowment was intended by its donors to be used for special purposes, and that these intentions must and will be inviolably respected, it is clear enough that our general resources have not been increased to anything like the degree that has often been assumed. We have accomplished results of which we should be proud; we would, indeed, have found it difficult to deal with the perplexities of the present without the new endowment; but we must be alive to the fact that the increase in the activities and responsibilities of the association has created for us new problems which still press for solution.

At the last business meeting there was passed by a unanimous vote a resolution looking to the creation of a permanent secretariat. There can be little doubt that the association would enlarge its opportunities of usefulness and increase the effectiveness of its activities were such an office to be set up. Such an agency would require a considerable sum for its support, perhaps $12,000 a year as a minimum. It must be our constant object (in conformity with the expressed views of the members of the association), to explore the possibilities as to the raising of this sum. For the present the council has no specific policy in this regard to report to you. But it is to be hoped that when such a policy is formulated, it will receive, not the mere passive support, but the active encouragement and enthusiastic backing of all our body. The time is rapidly approaching, indeed it has already arrived, when the multifarious activities of the association require direction by someone who will be able to devote his whole time to this purpose. As secretary, I am in a position to estimate at their full value the inestimable services which have been performed by the more active members of our governing body, burdened as all of them are with the press of other duties which are their first and most compelling responsibility. But it is the very men who have performed these services who are most firmly convinced of the necessity of establishing some permanent officer. The object which is proposed can not be realized without much effort. But that it should be kept steadily in mind, and advanced as rapidly as possible, is the clear sentiment of the members of the council.

As a final word in connection with our finances, I must call to your attention the retirement from the office of treasurer of Mr. Charles Moore. For 13 years Mr. Moore has put at the service of the association his business acumen, his wide historical knowledge, and his generous spirit of helpfulness. On the occasion of his retirement it is but fitting for me to express, in the name of the council, our very deep appreciation of his long and distinguished service. In these sentiments, I am sure, every member of the association joins.

I must next call your attention to certain amendments to the constitution which will be presented to this meeting, and the purport of which I shall briefly explain. The multiplication of the activities of the association has made it impossible for all its business to be transacted through such an agency as the council, the members of which body are widely separated geographically, and unable to come together at one time on call from the secretary. There was, therefore, created in 1927 the body which has come to be known as the ad interim or executive committee. This body is, of course, a creation of the council itself. It reports to the council, and its minutes should, in my judgment, be sent to every member of that body, in order that the council may exercise its appropriate powers in revising its activities. If experience be our teacher, it will often have to act on highly important matters. It appointed a secretary in 1928, and an editor of the Review in 1929, and made the arrangements for the occupation of the present quarters of the association in Washington. Questions equally significant, and calling, as these matters did, for prompt action, will doubtless arise in the future. For these reasons the committee must be a small one, and its members must not be too far removed geographically from one another. Most of its members will doubtless be members of the council itself. But it has been thought both convenient and highly desirable, in the appointment of the committee, to permit the association to avail itself of the capacities of individuals who are not, at the moment indicated, elected members of our governing body. Provision has, therefore, been made in the amendment which is before you, for possible choices falling outside that range. Let me repeat, in calling your attention to this amendment, that the action of the committee will be subject to review, and that final authority will rest, as hitherto, in the council itself. Another one of the amendments submitted to you is, indeed, intended to organize that body upon a more efficient basis. It provides for no increase in the number of elective members, but it lengthens the terms of these members from three to four years, and thus assigns to experience a greater rôle in the affairs of the association.

The membership of the association has not increased during the last year. There has, indeed, been a slight falling off in the number of those listed upon our roll. For a considerable part of the year our membership committee was without a chairman. Prof. Arthur J. May has now accepted the chairmanship and has enlisted the support of a group of associates who may be expected to perform vigorous and effective service with regard to this important activity in 1931. It is obvious, however, that the principal source of recruiting for the association must lie in the graduate schools and the summer schools of the great universities. I should like, therefore, to emphasize the desirability, even the necessity, of the most thorough-going cooperation from these sources if we are to continue to add to the association, as we should, those who are developing a more intensive and far-reaching interest in our subject.

I turn from these aspects of our affairs to some notice of the work of the more important committees of the association. The committee charged with the gravest responsibility is doubtless the Commission on the Social Studies in the Schools. Under the wise and self-sacrificing leadership of Professor Krey, this commission has pushed forward its tasks during the last year. A considerable number of special studies have been prepared under its direction for its use in the development of its activities, for example, an exploratory study of specific difficulties encountered in the teaching of the social studies, an exploratory study of extra school learning, a study of devices for political indoctrination employed abroad, an analysis of French and German textbooks, a comparative study on the teaching of geography in several of the leading European countries, a study of the various pressure groups which influence instruction in the social studies, and many others. Mr. Kelley continues to carry on the program of testing on which he reported to the association last year.

The commission has now subdivided its works into five major divisions, each to be in charge of a subcommittee. There are: Objectives, public relations, tests, organization and methods, and teacher or personnel. The first of these is obviously of central importance, and in connection with this phase of the commission's work Prof. Charles A. Beard has prepared a notable paper which has been made the basis for further study.

A second committee of great importance is that on the revolving fund, in charge of the publication grant made to the association by the Carnegie Corporation. The last year has been one of great activity. Eleven substantial works have been received by the committee. Two volumes are in press, two more are about to go to the printer; others have been reported upon favorably by outside readers, and are now being read by members of the committee. The quality of the works submitted has been steadily rising, scholars of established reputation being well represented. The last year has afforded striking evidence of the utility of such a fund, and of the wide use to which it will be put, once adequate publicity has been given to it. I can not close my mention of the work of this committee without transmitting to you the opinion already expressed by the council as to the high value which it puts upon the unselfish service of its members, and, in particular, of its chairman, Prof. E. P. Cheyney.

Last year I reported to you the decisions of the council with regard to the Griswold and Beveridge funds. The former fund, it will be remembered, was to be devoted to researches in the early history of American law, and Prof. E. B. Greene was put in charge of the work. A preliminary conference of scholars particularly interested in this field, held January 18, 1930, resulted in the appointment of a select committee composed of Profs. Greene, Charles M. Andrews, John Dickinson, and Felix Frankfurter. Mr. Richard S. Morris was appointed secretary. After a preliminary survey of material and some correspondence with Hon. Carroll T. Bond, chief justice of the Maryland Court of Appeals, it was agreed to publish first a volume incorporating the complete text of the records of the Maryland Court of Appeals, 1695-1729, Judge Bond to accept the principal editorship and Doctor Morris to collaborate with him, particularly in the publication of supplementary material, including essays on the history of the court, the condition of the bench and bar, the development of particular phases of law and procedure, and the significance of this material for the economic and social history of the period. A second volume, it has been agreed, is to consist of select cases from the records of the mayor's court in New York, probably the most significant judicial records for the economic and social history of that province.

In the discharge of its responsibility for the administration of the Beveridge fund, it will be remembered, the council decided that the income from this fund should be devoted to the publication of materials illustrative of the state of public opinion, especially in the South, in the period preceding the Civil War. A committee was appointed to administer this fund, under the chairmanship of Professor Phillips, with Professors Nichols and Cole as members. This committee reports that a preliminary volume is ready for the press, dealing with opinion in the Southern States on the eve of secession, and prepared by Prof. Dwight L. Dumond. It is expected to publish another work illustrative of the state of public opinion in the North at the same time.

In the list of the publication activities of the association there are other notable tasks in train. The Guide to Historical Literature will be, in all probability, ready for publication in 1931; the Bibliography of British History is in progress; and the Bibliography of Travel has received a great impetus through the generous grant of the American Council of Learned Societies, which has enabled Professor Buck to advance this work materially during the past year. The annual reports and the writings have been virtually brought up to date. For the accomplishment of this result great credit is due to the chairman of the committee on publications, Prof. Leo F. Stock. A change in the editorship took place during the last year, and thanks is due both to Mr. Allen R. Boyd and Prof. Lowell Joseph Ragatz for the vigorous effort put forth to make up arrears. The expense incident to this work of catching up has made it necessary to restrict the size of the annual reports and has made desirable their publication in paper rather than in cloth; and it may be necessary to publish the report on a margin of $2,000. We shall, however, be in better case with regard to this whole problem by the end of 1931, and it is also to be hoped that the $7,000 appropriation of the Government Printing Office, which stands at the same sum that it did before the war, may be increased to $9,000. Latest advices from Washington make this probable.²⁷

The American Historical Association is a member of two great federative bodies of scholars, the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council. It is appropriate, therefore, to include in this report such activities of these agencies as are of particular interest to historians. The assistance which both of them furnish to research in the form of grants-in-aid, and of fellowships, has now become widely known. History, by virtue of its position as at the same time a social science and as one of the humanities, figures in the activities of both the councils. Both have given generous aid to historical scholarships during the past year.

Turning to other matters, I should like briefly to indicate to our members those activities of the American Council of Learned Societies which are of particular interest to historians. Of the Dictionary of American Biography it is hardly necessary to speak. The association takes a peculiar pride in this work, as amongst the greatest achievements of American historical scholarship. But it is worth while to point out that the council will publish next spring the Historia Trojana of Guido delle Colonne, edited by Prof. N. E. Griffin, and that Professor Heidel's The Heroic Age of Greek Science will follow.

²⁷ The appropriation was actually raised to $12,000 per annum.

I must also mention the fact that the council is engaged upon a catalogue of classical and mediaeval manuscripts in American collections, upon a catalogue of pre-Carolingian Latin manuscripts, upon Sabin's Dictionary, upon a study of the English government at work, 1327-1336, and is planning a documentary history of ideas, the first volume of which, prepared with the collaboration of Professors Lovejoy, Chinard, and Boas of the Johns Hopkins University, will deal with the history of primitivism and antiprimitivism.

An important joint project of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council is the establishment of a committee on materials for research. A conference of representatives of the American Historical Association and of the Modern Languages Association was held last spring, to formulate a definite plan of action. Under the direction of the joint committee a survey of the activities of American agencies in collecting, preserving, indexing, and cataloguing materials for research has been made by Mr. Franklin F. Holbrook, and will be published after checking and revision.

Of special interest amongst the activities of the Social Science Research Council, is the setting up of a committee for research in international problems, affirming its interest not only in studies involving more than one of the social disciplines, but also in projects which fall within a single discipline. The council has also indicated its willingness to afford a measure of financial support to the individual societies in their efforts to define their policies in relation to research.

The charter of the association directs the secretary to report to the members upon "the condition of historical study in America." On the basis of this injunction, I wish to call to your attention certain historical activities not heretofore noted.²⁸

I may mention briefly the proposed edition of the works of George Washington, under the auspices of the Washington Bicentennial Commission, and the editorship of Mr. John C. Fitzpatrick. The chairman of the commission, Prof. A. B. Hart, will speak more fully on this subject in the course of this meeting.

Of great importance are the publications of the Library of Congress. Work on the highly useful Journals of the Continental Congress, under the editorship of Doctor Fitzpatrick, is proceeding, and the volumes for 1785 are now in the hands of the printer. The third volume of the Records of the Virginia Company, under the editorship of Prof. Susan M. Kingsbury, is now in galley proof.

I alluded in my report last year to the transcribing operations of the Library in foreign archives. The value of this service to students of diplomatic history can hardly be estimated. Not only are these transcripts available in the Library itself, but also on interlibrary loan. An immense amount of material which could before only have been consulted as the result of much travel and effort in European archives, has therefore been and is being made available to American historians.

In the course of the year the Department of State has advanced the publication of its series Foreign Relations to 1918, and its special volumes of the diplomatic correspondence of the World War to 1916. It has also in preparation a new edition of the Treaties of the United States, with explanatory and historical notes, under the editorship of Mr. David Hunter Miller. There are other historical activities of the State Department which have been suspended, and which are of interest to the association. The series, Foreign Relations, though advanced in 1918, is now 11 years in arrears. Recognizing the many difficulties inherent in the preparation of these volumes for the press (difficulties interestingly described by the historical adviser to the State Department in Foreign Affairs for January, 1930), but keenly aware of the value of the publication, the association has recently memorialized the Secretary of State and invited other organizations to do so, with regard to bringing the series more nearly up to date. It seems probable, however, that these memorials will be ineffective unless followed up by the individual solicitations of those numerous members of this body who must find the publication of value in their work.

The work being done on the papers in Washington concerning the Territories, work of immense value to the history of the West, is now provided for by special appropriations. The council of the association has gone on record as urging the carrying on of this work, and urges all interested to associate themselves with the representations which it has made in this regard.

The record of historical activities transmitted in this report will, I think, be generally agreed to be an impressive one. The association, and the other agencies which I have mentioned, are undertaking expanding tasks and developing new historical interests. While much, perhaps most, of historical scholarship must be in the field of individual effort, no one can contemplate the various projects outlined in this report without a deepening sense of the possibilities of cooperative effort. In its widening area of helpfulness and of sound promotion of historical scholarship in the United States and in Canada, the association solicits the positive support and fullest cooperation of its members.

Respectfully submitted.

DEXTER PERKINS, Secretary.

REPORT OF F. W. LAFRENTZ & Co.

DECEMBER 23, 1930.

THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION:

We have audited your accounts and records from December 1, 1929, to December 1, 1930, inclusive.

Our report, including two exhibits, is as follows:

Exhibit A.—Statement of receipts and disbursements—General.

Exhibit B.—Statement of receipts and disbursements—American Historical Review.

We verified the cash receipts, as shown by the records, and the cash disbursements were compared with canceled checks and vouchers on file. They are in agreement with the treasurer's report.

The cash called for by the records of the fund was reconciled with the bank statements.²⁹

We inspected the securities of the association, $288,900 par value, as called for by the records.

Respectfully submitted.

F. W. LAFRENTZ & Co.,
Certified Public Accountants.

EPHRAIM DOUGLASS ADAMS

The name of Adams has always been prominent in the annals of the American Historical Association and held in grateful remembrance by its members. Herbert Adams was its principal founder, its chief motive power during the first decade of its existence, its secretary for 16 years. Henry Adams was its president in 1894, Charles Francis Adams in 1901, George Adams in 1908. Ephraim Douglass Adams was only remotely related to these. His father was one of the devoted band of seven home missionaries, known to history as the "Iowa band," who in the 1840's came out from a New England theological seminary to the territory or new State of Iowa, solemnly dedicated to the work of making it, as far as they could, a Commonwealth of the highest character, with all the aids that religion and education could supply. Douglass's elder brother, Henry Carter Adams, was graduated from Iowa College (now Grinnell College), founded by this group of Congregational ministers, and became a distinguished economist in the University of Michigan. Douglass himself, born December 18, 1865, went to the latter university, where he received in 1887 the degree of bachelor of arts, and in 1890, after an interval partly spent in high-school teaching, that of doctor of philosophy. From 1891 to 1902 he served the University of Kansas as assistant professor, associate professor, and professor of modern European history. In 1902 he was called, as associate professor of history, to Leland Stanford University, where from 1906 to the time of his death he was principal professor in that department. In that position he showed himself a devoted and stimulating teacher, a thoughtful and considerate colleague and leader, and a man of great usefulness to the university, especially, in years during and since the World War, in the building up of the magnificent Hoover War Library.

Doctor Adams's first published book was one on the Control of the Purse in the United States (1894). In 1904 he published a monograph upon The Influence of Grenville on Pitt's Foreign Policy, in 1910 a volume on British Interests and Activities in Texas, being the Albert Shaw lectures in diplomatic history at the Johns Hopkins University, and in 1913 the Dodge lectures at Yale on The Power of Ideals in American History. Cooperation in the latter year with the late Charles Francis Adams led to the preparation of his principal work, in two volumes, on Great Britain and the American Civil War, which, when it appeared in 1925, took rank at once as the standard treatment of that difficult subject and deserved that rank by its thoroughness of research and the admirable good judgment and fairness with which it treated the many controverted episodes with which it had to deal.

Doctor Adams's relations to the American Historical Association were many and fruitful. For 40 years he was a member. In 1890 he read before the society a paper on the Budget in the United States; in 1901 one on College Work in History. In 1907, and again in 1912, he was a member of the nominating committee and delegate of the Pacific Coast Branch to the annual meetings of those years, and in 1915, as one of the members most trusted for moderation and soundness of judgment, he served on the Committee of Nine for reforming or amending the society's constitution and by-laws. Naturally, he was also influential and useful in the affairs of the Pacific Coast Branch. He was its president in 1909-10, reading as his presidential address an interesting paper on British Travelers in America. At the annual meeting of the association in 1928, in Indianapolis, he was chosen second vice president, at the Durham meeting of 1929 first vice president. The deep regret which his death on September 1 has brought to his many friends is heightened in every mind by the remembrance that, according to unanimous expectation, he would on this present day have been raised to the presidency, an honor he had so richly deserved.

That universal esteem and widespread affection with which Professor Adams was regarded was not founded solely on distinguished scholarship and varied services to the teaching of history and to this society, but on a character marked by complete integrity, scrupulous fidelity to every duty, manly resolution, warm friendliness, and a most pleasant demeanor. No one could remain long in his company without being charmed by his cordiality, his freedom from all pretense, his good humor, and the brightness and interest of his conversation. There have been few members of the historical profession who have done so much to build up historical knowledge and scholarship in their respective regions and few whose death has caused more extensive sorrow.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION APPROVED BY THE COUNCIL AND UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED AT THE ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING HELD ON DECEMBER 30, 1930⁸²

Article III, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Article IV, paragraph 3, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Article V, paragraph 1, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Paragraph 2: Substitute for this paragraph the following:

"2. Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot at the annual meeting of the association. At the election of 1931, the persons so elected shall be assigned to four equal classes, the members of which shall be elected to serve, respectively, for 1, 2, 3, and 4 years. Subsequent elections in each class shall be for four years, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms."

Article VI: Strike out the word "executive," before the word "council," in lines 1 and 6 and add the following paragraphs:

"For the transaction of necessary business when the council is not in session, the council shall elect annually an executive committee of not more than six members, which shall include the secretary and the treasurer, and may include not more than two persons not members of the council. Subject to the general direction of the council, the executive committee shall be responsible for the management of association interests and the carrying out of association policies.

Article VII, line 3: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

PRIZES AND SPECIAL FUNDS

The American Historical Review fund.—From the profits of The American History, for an essay based on independent, original investigation in American history. The Winsor prize was established in 1895 by the association in recognition of Justin Winsor's contribution to American historical study.

The Herbert Baxter Adams prize of $200, awarded in successive odd-numbered years, for an essay based on independent, original work in the history of the Eastern Hemisphere. The Adams prize was founded in 1902 by the association to commemorate Professor Adams's services to historical study and his bequest of $5,000 to the association.

The George Louis Beer prize of $250, awarded annually according to the terms of the bequest of $5,000 made by Professor Beer, for the best work upon any phase of European international history since 1895.

The Jusserand prize medal.—This medal is awarded, as occasion arises, for a published work of distinction on any phase involving the history of the intellectual relations between the United States and any foreign country, whether such work be written by an American citizen or by a citizen of a foreign country.

The John H. Dunning fund.—Bequest from Miss Mathilde M. Dunning. The income from this fund to be used in accordance with the terms of the bequest as follows: "I give and bequeath the following sum: To the American Historical Association of Washington, D. C., two thousand dollars ($2,000), the income I direct to be used as a prize known as the John H. Dunning prize and to be offered for the best historical essay by a member of the association, conditions and subjects to be arranged by the authorities of the association. I suggest that for a time at least, the subjects cover historical matter connected with the Southern States during the reconstruction period, material in which my father, John H. Dunning, and my brother, William A. Dunning, a former president of the association, were deeply interested."

The Andrew D. White fund, established by the National Board for Historical Service from royalties on publications in connection with World War work, amounts to $1,200. The income is used for historical undertakings of an international character.

The William A. Dunning fund.—Prof. William A. Dunning, of Columbia University, bequeathed to the association $5,000, the income to be used without restriction.

The American Historical Review fund.—From the profits of The American Historical Review the board of editors has paid to the American Historical Association the following amounts: 1912, $300; 1913, $300; 1914, $300; 1915, $400; 1921, $500; 1922, $500; 1924, $1,000; 1925, $2,000; 1926, $2,000; 1927, $1,500; bonds turned over to American Historical Association, $1,200; total, $10,000.

The Carnegie Revolving Publication fund.—Grant from the Carnegie Corporation of New York to be used as a publication fund, in accordance with the following resolution: "That the sum of $25,000 be, and it hereby is, appropriated to the American Historical Association, Washington, D. C., for the purpose of providing a revolving fund for publications."

The Albert J. Beveridge fund.—Established by Mrs. Beveridge as a memorial to her husband, the income to be used for historical research.

The Littleton-Griswold fund.—Established by Mrs. Griswold as a memorial to her father, William E. Littleton, and her husband, Frank Tracy Griswold, the income to be used for research work in American history.

The J. Franklin Jameson fund.—Established by the executive council of the American Historical Association in honor of J. Franklin Jameson.

The Harriet Beecher Stowe fund.—Established by the Connecticut Committee on the Endowment Fund in memory of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

The Carnegie Corporation of New York grant, made to the association for the use of the Commission on the Social Studies in the Schools.

The Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial grant, made to the association for the work of the International Committee of Historical Sciences.

The John D. Rockefeller, jr., grant, made to the association for the use of the American Council of Learned Societies in the "study of racial and linguistic origins."

AMERICAN HISTORICAL REVIEW—REPORT OF THE BOARD OF EDITORS

The board of editors of The American Historical Review has since the last annual report held two meetings, one at Durham, N. C., on December 30, 1929, and one at Branford, Conn., on September 13, 1930. Four numbers of the Review have as usual been published. It has continued under the management of Prof. Henry E. Bourne as managing editor, with headquarters at 40 B Street SW., Washington, D. C. Miss Janet Woodburn continued as assistant editor until the middle of September. From the first of October her place was taken by Miss Phoebe A. Heath. Mrs. G. Frederick Pierce has continued to be stenographer in its service and that of the American Historical Association.

In response to a request from the council the board considered at its September meeting the question of ceasing to pay for articles and reviews, but under the circumstances then thought to exist the board did not conclude to institute any change of practice in this respect. In response to a request to consider whether the expenses for printing could be reduced, that question was laid before the auditor of the Macmillan Co., publishers of the Review. He made efforts to discover possibilities of more advantageous arrangements, but up to the last communication from him had not found any printer who would do the work more cheaply without lowering the standard of execution. The principal vote of the board, affecting practice in the publication of the Review, was a vote that the place of residence or academic connection of reviewers should be indicated on the page along with their names.

Respectfully submitted.

J. F. JAMESON, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE HISTORICAL MANUSCRIPTS COMMISSION

During the past year the historical manuscripts commission has been mainly concerned with the project for a survey of manuscript materials for American history. The resolution on this subject of the council, adopted at its Durham meeting, was as follows:

It was voted in view of the constitution of a special committee to consider this problem by the Social Science Research Council and the American Council of Learned Societies to request Professor Pease to confer with Prof. A. M. Schlesinger and Mr. W. G. Leland with regard to the project suggested by the commission.

In accordance with these instructions, I addressed Professor Schlesinger and Mr. Leland. Mr. Leland was much interested and on behalf of the Council of Learned Societies called a conference on the subject in Washington for April 5, 1930. At this conference the project submitted by the historical manuscripts commission and a similar proposal from the Modern Language Society were considered; Profs. J. G. De Rouilhac Hamilton and Jay B. Hubbell for the Modern Language Society were appointed to draw up a plan to be submitted to the Council of Learned Societies this fall. So far I have received no information regarding the specific results arrived at by the subcommittee or the likelihood of securing the needed financial subvention. The prospect for a comprehensive survey, however, is certainly very much brighter than it ever has been before.

Necessarily the work of the historical manuscripts commission has more or less waited on the outcome of the proposal. Should the survey actually be undertaken, the members of the commission will undoubtedly have to offer much assistance to the paid surveyors in order that it may be accomplished as thoroughly and as inexpensively as possible.

Meanwhile, in view of the fact that the Council of Learned Societies has commissioned Doctor Holbrook to prepare a list of all calendars of manuscript materials for American history, it has seemed that it would be only a duplication for the historical manuscripts commission to proceed with its project of listing printed sources for American history. Subject to reversal from the council, I have indicated to the members of the commission that this enterprise will be dropped.

With respect to publications, on July 11, 1930, Dr. Leo F. Stock, chairman of the committee on publications, informed me that the Calhoun papers, which had been waiting for publication for some years, had been included in the 1929 report. He indicated, also, the advisability of the commission's deciding on its contribution to the report for 1930, mentioning that, since time was an element, it might be advisable to adopt Doctor Jameson's suggestion to use the war diary of Edward Bates. On behalf of the commission, I ventured to give its cordial consent.³⁴

It remains to consider what manuscript material the commission might suggest for inclusion in succeeding reports. I should be glad if a final decision on this point could be avoided until there was opportunity for a meeting of the commission at the meeting of the association this December. Among manuscript materials, presumably subjects for publication, the most generally satisfactory that occurs to me at present is the material relating to the Southern Indian Superintendency. If a specific recommendation on this heading could be postponed until the ad interim meeting of the council, the commission could doubtless lay before the council a list of alternative projects properly digested with the necessary information. In case the survey of manuscript materials is undertaken, the printing of the results in successive annual reports may prove to be a most valuable contribution on the side of publication.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE ALBERT J. BEVERIDGE MEMORIAL FUND

The committee on the Beveridge fund is keeping in touch with Prof. D. L. Dumond, now of the University of Michigan, who expects within two or three months to deliver copy for a volume of editorials from the southern press on secession. For the publication of this and presumably succeeding volumes of the Beveridge fund series the committee, with the sanction of President Greene, who suggested it, is inclined to make arrangements with the Century Co. on a basis similar to that in effect between the Century Co. and the committee on the revolving fund of the American Historical Association.

³⁴ This diary appears as Vol. IV of the current annual report.

Our committee has no intention of exceeding at any time the income to be derived from the Beveridge fund.

As yet the Beveridge fund committee has no definite project in view in sequel to Professor Dumond's volume.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE LITTLETON-GRISWOLD FUND

At the November meeting of the council in 1929 it was agreed that the income of the Littleton-Griswold fund should for the present be applied for the promotion of research in the early history of American law, with a view to the publication of one or more volumes in that field. The undersigned was constituted a committee to confer with representative students of American history and American law and with their cooperation to work out the details of the project.

In accordance with the vote of the council a preliminary conference was held in New York on January 18, 1930, at which the following gentlemen were present: Charles M. Andrews, Yale University; Edward S. Corwin, Princeton University; John Dickinson, University of Pennsylvania; George Francis Dow, Topsfield, Mass.; Felix Frankfurter, Harvard University; Julius Goebel and Evarts B. Greene, Columbia University; H. R. McIlwaine, Virginia State Library; Richard B. Morris, College of the City of New York; Francis S. Philbrick, University of Pennsylvania; John T. Vance, law librarian, Library of Congress; Hessel Yntema, Institute of Law, Johns Hopkins University. Mr. Greene acted as chairman and Mr. Morris as secretary.

In the course of the discussion, various possibilities were considered, including (1) an extensive survey of legal records and the publication of a guide to the sources, and (2) the publication of selected texts with substantial introductory essays. No formal vote was taken in favor of any particular type of publication, though the trend of the discussion appeared to be toward the preparation of a preliminary or "demonstration" volume which would make available in print, with appropriate editorial matter, hitherto inedited judicial records. There was special reference also to the dearth of such material for the early eighteenth century, when significant developments were taking place in the relations between American legal practice and the English common law. It was finally agreed that a select committee should be named to cooperate with the chairman in formulating a definite program. Messrs. Andrews, Dickinson, and Frankfurter were accordingly appointed; and Mr. Morris was engaged to serve as secretary and investigator for the committee.

The plans of the committee have been developed mainly through correspondence and conferences between Mr. Morris and individual members of the committee; and arrangements have been made with the authorities of the City College, by which Mr. Morris has been enabled to give half of his time to the service of the committee, at a salary of $1,400 for the nine months of the present academic year.

After a preliminary survey of material, with special reference to New York and Maryland, and some correspondence with Hon. Carroll T. Bond, chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, the following general conclusions were reached by the committee at a meeting held in New Haven on October 4:

1. It is desirable to inaugurate a series of legal text publications analogous to those of the English Selden Society, each volume to contain a substantial introduction, dealing with topics explanatory of, or related to, the text in question. With a view to securing financial support from members of the bar and other interested persons, the chairman was requested to draft a circular explaining the plans of the committee.

2. With the approval of Judge Bond, and of the officers of the Maryland Historical Society, it was agreed to publish first a volume incorporating the complete text of the records of the Maryland Court of Appeals, 1695-1729, a period of special interest for American legal development and for which the records of this court are remarkably clear and complete. In connection with this vote, it was agreed that Judge Bond should be invited to accept membership in the committee and the principal editorship of this volume, with the understanding that Doctor Morris should collaborate with him in the editorial work generally, and particularly in the publication of the supplementary material, including essays on such topics as the history of the court, the condition of the bench and bar, the development of particular phases of law and procedure, and the significance of this material for the economic and social history of the period.

3. It was agreed also to proceed with preparations for a second volume to consist of select cases from the records of the mayor's court of New York, probably the most significant judicial records for the economic and social history of that province.

4. Other possibilities, favorably considered but not definitely acted upon, include selections from admiralty records (suggested by Mr. Andrews), the proceedings of the Massachusetts Superior Court, and a volume to illustrate cases appealed to the Privy Council.

Since the New Haven meeting of the committee, Judge Bond has accepted membership, with special editorial responsibility for the Maryland volume. Through the courtesy of the Maryland Historical Society, the committee has secured, without expense to the association, a complete photostat of the court record and work has already begun in the preparation of the printer's copy. Some progress has also been made in the preparation of the introductory matter.

Financial statement.—The income of the Littleton-Griswold fund, already accrued, or to accrue up to July 1, 1931, is $3,558.34. Of this amount a total of $974.12 was expended up to November 1, 1930, of which the principal item is the sum of $650, paid to Doctor Morris for his work from March 1 until the beginning of the present academic year. The other expenditures aggregating $324.12 include the cost of assembling the preliminary conference, the travel expenses of the secretary and members of the select committee, and a photostat of the Murray Form Book, a manuscript to be used in connection with the work on the mayor's court. Of the balance remaining on November 1, namely, $2,584.22, $1,400 will be required for the half-time salary of Doctor Morris, to be paid in monthly instalments beginning November 1 and ending July 1. About $500 will be required for clerical service in preparing the printer's copy of the court record, leaving $684.22 for miscellaneous expenses.

The sum available is, as was anticipated, not sufficient to cover the cost of printing and some other sources of support must be looked for. It was the unanimous opinion of the committee that such support could be secured without serious difficulty for a competently edited volume of the kind proposed; but the time has now come when the question of ways and means must be taken up. It seemed to the committee that in order to attract support from donors, as well as to establish a high standard for such a series as we have in mind, it was important that the initial volume should be an excellent example of book-making. Woodbine's edition of Bracton in the Yale series was mentioned as an illustration. The estimated cost of printing the Maryland record in this form, with about 70 pages of supplementary material, would be about $4,000.

Once this preliminary volume is well under way, the next step should, in the opinion of the committee, be the establishing of some permanent agency to continue the work, an agency adequately representative, both of the legal profession and of historical scholarship.

The ad interim committee having, by a recent vote, authorized the undersigned to use the balance of the Littleton-Griswold fund accruing up to July 1 for the work of the select committee, no further appropriation is asked at this time, but an expression of opinion by the council as to the further development of the work seems desirable.

Respectfully submitted,

NOVEMBER 29, 1930.

EVARTS B. GREENE, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PUBLICATIONS

The committee on publications respectfully submits the following report:

Publications.—During the current year four annual reports (in three volumes, 1925, 1926, and 1927–28) and Writings on American History for 1926 have been distributed to members. By the close of the year it is hoped that the Report for 1929, which contains the letters to Calhoun, will have been printed and Writings for 1927 distributed. The indexes to the 1929 Report are about completed. It is therefore most gratifying to your committee to be able to state that by the end of the year the Annual Reports of the association will at last be brought down to date.

All page proofs, including those of the index, of Writings for 1927 have been returned to the printer, from whom word is daily expected that the volume has been finished. The volume of Writings for 1928 is in galley proof.

In view of the general progress in the matter of publications, it is to be regretted that this report can not close in the same joyful strain. The outlook for next year is quite disturbing, as the following state of the appropriations will show:

Statement of appropriations.—

Existing charges against 1930:

Report for 1929, estimate.....	$3, 000. 00
Report for 1926, final charge.....	1, 479. 24
Writings for 1926, estimated balance.....	1, 000. 00
Writings for 1927, estimate.....	1, 467. 75
	6, 946. 99

These estimates are certain to fall short of the final charges.

Existing charges against 1931:

Writings for 1928, estimate.....	$3, 601. 35
Report for 1927–28, bill.....	1, 483. 21

Scarcely $2,000 will therefore be available for the 1930 Report and Writings for 1929. A slender volume containing the mere formal report, as of 1925 or 1926, would just about consume this balance.

For consideration.—1. It is very evident that the first need is a larger appropriation for the work of the committee on publications.

2. It has been suggested that a saving of 40 cents per volume could be made by binding the Reports in heavy paper instead of cloth. Some species of fabroid would cost more, but not so much as cloth. I am not prepared to say how many of the other learned societies, if any, furnish bound cloth copies of their proceedings to their members.

The omission from the Report of the account of the annual meeting, reprinted from The American Historical Review, would also save something, in view of the high cost of our printing. The program is always printed in the Report, and all members receive the Review.

3. In case the corrected estimates or a generous Congress will place at our disposal a larger sum than is now anticipated,²⁵ what shall be the nature of the 1930 Report? The Historical Manuscripts Commission has nothing ready for publication. Perhaps the commission would accept some American notes from the Scottish archives which, I believe, Doctor Jameson collected some years ago. Doctor Jameson also suggested the possibility of securing for publication the war diary of Attorney General Edward Bates.²⁶

If we are not again to fall far behind in our Reports, materials for the single volume of the 1930 Report should be available as soon as possible after the new year.

Your chairman is greatly indebted to the former editor, Mr. Allen R. Boyd, for his careful assistance on the work in his hands up to the date of his relinquishment of office; to Prof. Lowell Joseph Ragatz, the present editor, for his energetic cooperation; to the production department of the Government Printing Office for its prompt attention to copy and proof; and to Mr. W. P. True, editor of the Smithsonian Institution, for his unfailing kindness and help.

LEO F. STOCK, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE PUBLIC ARCHIVES COMMISSION

In response to your request, I submit herewith the report of the public archives commission for 1930.

Although appointed chairman of the commission by the executive council in November, 1929, I did not, because of several changes of address, receive notice of the appointment until the eve of the meeting of the American Historical Association at Durham. As only one other member of the reconstituted commission was at that meeting, no conference was held there. As I knew but little of the activities of the commission during the last few years and was unable to learn anything about them, I was for some time at a loss how to proceed. At an informal meeting of three members—Profs. T. M. Marshall, J. G. Randall, and the chairman—at Chattanooga on April 25 it was decided to revive the project for an archivists' manual or primer, which was proposed by Mr. V. H. Paltsits and Dr. Waldo G. Leland as early as 1912, and to bring up to date the several reports on State archives.

With respect to the archivists' manual, it is expected that it will be much simpler than the one proposed before. If it should be decided to push this project through, it should be put into the hands of some one person who has had extensive experience in the administration of archives and who understands the problems which beset the earnest but untrained workers who are so frequently found in charge of our public records. There can be no doubt that there is great need for a manual of this character. If the project meets the approval of the executive council, a suitable appropriation should be made for the work.

The project of bringing the reports on State archives up to date presents many difficulties because of the rapid expansion of State activities during the last 20 to 30 years and the enormous multiplication of records, many of which are at present inaccessible. It is suggested that instead of a catalogue of materials, such as was presented in many of the earlier reports, a much simpler plan would suffice; namely, a brief description of each of the departments of the State government, with its subdepartments, its functions, and the nature and location of its records. This work will require careful planning, will call for wide cooperation, and will take time. If approved, it likewise will require a small appropriation for the ensuing year.

A request has just come from the joint committee on materials for research of the American Council of Learned Societies and the Social Science Research Council that the public archives commission make a general survey of the actual condition of the States' archives at the present time and the facilities for their consultation. The other members of the commission have had no opportunity as yet to consider this proposal, but it will be laid before them at once. If they find it good, they may think it best to make this survey before attempting to bring out the supplementary reports on State archives referred to in the preceding paragraph.

A luncheon conference of archivists is being arranged for the Boston meeting at which these various projects will be discussed. It is hoped that more definite plans for the future work of the public archives commission will result from this conference.

None of the appropriation of $100 for the current year has been used. In view of the plans for next year, the commission requests a larger appropriation for 1931. The inexperience of the chairman handicaps him in making a fair estimate of the amount needed, but it would seem that $250 toward the preparation of the manual and $100 for beginning the survey of the State archives would not be extravagant.

Respectfully submitted.

CHARLES W. RAMSDELL, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BIBLIOGRAPHY

During the past year your committee has been engaged in finally preparing for publication the long-delayed Guide to Historical Literature. Much of the time has been spent upon the index, the compilation of which has proven a serious undertaking, far greater than was anticipated. At the date of making this report the index is about to go to the printer. The page proof has long since been corrected, but the Macmillan Co., publishers of the volume, wishes us to correct a foundry page proof, including that of the index. Consequently, we see no hope of the actual publication of the book until after Christmas.

Your committee does not ask for an appropriation for the 1931; owing, however, to the fact that many bills will not be rendered until after January 1, 1931, we recommend that the treasurer be authorized to meet such bills, as far as possible, out of the appropriation of $500 granted us in December last and as yet not drawn upon.

Respectfully submitted.

HENRY R. SHIPMAN, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON A BIBLIOGRAPHY OF MODERN BRITISH HISTORY

The committee on a bibliography of modern British history begs leave to report progress and hopes that the council will be forbearing and look forward to a more definitive report next year.

Respectfully submitted.

E. P. CHEYNEY, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON HISTORICAL RESEARCH IN THE COLLEGES

The committee on research in the colleges, being largely intended to keep alive discussion and interest in that phase of historical work, has but little to report to the council. A meeting of the committee was held at Durham and plans were made for a session at the 1930 meeting of the association. Since that time the chairman, with the consent of the program committee, has arranged a round-table discussion of "opportunities for more effective research in colleges" to be held in connection with the annual meeting of the association at Boston this year.

The committee has no expenses to report.

Respectfully submitted.

FRED A. SHANNON, Chairman.

OCTOBER 21, 1930.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON ENDOWMENT

The movement organized at the Ann Arbor meeting of the American Historical Association in 1926, to secure an endowment of a million dollars for the association, has definitely committed the association to make every possible effort to secure the sum of $1,000,000. To abandon the effort with the present results would be a serious blow to the prestige of the society. Not only that, but since several large gifts and numerous smaller ones have been made in the confidence that the full amount would be subscribed, the standing of the association in business and philanthropic circles would be lowered by repudiating our announced program. Your committee therefore recommends that the society pledge itself to continue its effort until the goal of a million dollars is attained.

Investigation reveals, however, that the original organization for securing the endowment has completely broken down. No State committee has been found which is either willing or able to resume activity. Added to this is the patent fact that the financial situation at present is most unpromising for a general endowment campaign. It seems obvious, therefore, that the only thing to do is to begin the creation of a new organization which will not immediately conduct a general campaign, but will be preparing systematically for obtaining subscriptions and gifts for the association. It is also apparent that the best prospect is that of securing at least a few large gifts, if not in the immediate future, then in the next year or two. There is some reason for hope that help can be obtained from one or more of the large philanthropic endowments already in existence.

Your committee would therefore recommend that a committee on endowment and large gifts be appointed by the executive council, to consist of 9 members, more or less, 5 or 6 of whom would be so located that meetings could be arranged without great inconvenience or expense; that this committee be given an appropriation sufficient to cover the expense of its meetings and its work, and that the appointment of the committee be made in such a way as to make it clear that it is not the abandonment of the endowment campaign but rather its continuation.

Although it may not be strictly within the province of this committee to make other recommendations than the above, there are certain matters so closely related to securing a million-dollar endowment, that they must be considered in this report.

The committee recommends that the establishment of permanent quarters and a secretariat be made a definite, clear-cut part of the endowment movement, so that funds secured for endowment and not given for other specific purposes, may be used for the establishment of a home and office in which a competent staff can give its entire time to the business of the association. While money for a secretariat will not be as easy to secure as money for definite projects, your committee believes that at the present time a secretariat is the most pressing and imperative need of the organization, and that it has become absolutely necessary to relieve the intolerable burden now laid on the voluntary officers. Unless the officers of the association are relieved, we do not see how the association can expand its work. There is indeed danger that its present commitments may not be properly carried out.

Though it is perhaps outside of the province of this committee, we would respectfully recommend that the association establish at least one additional class of membership. We would suggest that the payment of $10 a year be regarded as a basis for sustaining membership and that notices of dues and solicitations for membership contain the statement that the dues for a sustaining membership are $10 a year. The proceeds of the additional $5 above the annual membership dues would probably give the association additional resources for the maintenance of an office and secretariat.

Gifts and subscriptions made for definite objects must always carry with them the most binding assurances that the objects of donors whose gifts are accepted will be strictly adhered to. Every guarantee known to our institutions must be established by the association so that donors will have no doubt about the perpetuity of the endowment and its continued fruitfulness.

The committee recommends, therefore, that the council at the earliest possible moment give full consideration to the establishment of such guarantees, and to publicity concerning them, whether they are to be found in a board of trustees entrusted with the investment and maintenance of permanent endowment funds, in a contract with some large financial institution of nationally recognized security for the custody and investment of endowment funds and payment of interest to the trustees of the association, or in some other method used by universities and philanthropical endowments.

This committee has every confidence that the million dollars set as the goal for the endowment can ultimately be secured. It is inconceivable that with local and State historical societies enjoying incomes from endowments and other sources and obtaining large gifts and bequests from year to year, that the national organization of historians, an organization whose work is far more extensive and far more valuable than that of any State society, should continue to be without a permanent home, without an administrative staff, and without endowment both to carry on historical work and to administer its own affairs.

Respectfully submitted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE DOCUMENTARY HISTORICAL PUBLICATIONS OF THE UNITED STATES

The committee on the documentary historical publications of the United States reports as follows:

The noteworthy historical publications of source material now under way by various organs of the Federal Government consist of:

I. Publications of the Washington Bicentennial Commission.—This consists of: (1) The edition of the works of George Washington, undertaken by the Bicentennial Commission under act of Congress of December 2, 1924, Dr. John C. Fitzpatrick, editor. This project is now being rapidly pushed ahead, and the first volume is expected to be in print before the end of 1930. An atlas will supplement the documentary volumes.

II. Publications of the Library of Congress.—(a) The Journals of the Continental Congress, also edited by Dr. John C. Fitzpatrick. The volumes for 1785 are now being printed. The copy for 1786 and 1787 is practically finished and awaits the facilities of the Government Printing Office, where a printing credit admitting of two volumes a year is available for this publication.

(b) Volume III of the Records of the Virginia Company, by Prof. Susan M. Kingsbury, is now in galley proof. The remaining volume of this publication is believed to be nearing completion in manuscript.

III. Publications of the Department of State.—1. In addition to the routine departmental publications, there are in process two important series of historical documents:

(a) The series Foreign Relations, which has now advanced through the year 1918, with the addition of certain supplementary (World War) volumes for 1914, 1915, and 1916. In an article in the January, 1930, number of the periodical Foreign Affairs, the historical adviser of the Department of State pointed out some of the difficulties which attend the publication of documents of contemporary international significance, and he did not seem to express much hope for any rapid publication of the increasingly voluminous mass of the diplomatic correspondence of the United States.

(b) The new edition of Treaties of the United States, being edited by Mr. Hunter Miller. Proofs of the first volume of this important work are now ready and publication is expected at an early date. Following the volumes of texts, a volume of historical notes on the texts may be expected.

2. Suspended publications.—The committee regrets to note that the two most important historical publications by the Department of State would appear to have been totally suspended. In 1923 the department commenced preparing for publication a series of the Instructions to United States Envoys Abroad, 1789–1889, which would in effect supplement, for the historian, similar series already put out by certain European governments. (See Annual Report of the American Historical Association for 1923, p. 89, and following.) For some reason not known to this committee no appreciable progress appears to have been made on the preparation of even the initial volume of such a valuable series, which would reflect the main line of development of American foreign policy during the first century of the history of our National Government.

By acts of Congress of March 3, 1925, February 28, 1929, and April 18, 1930, the publication was authorized, and money was appropriated therefor, of an edition of the Papers in Washington Concerning the Territories. This association, together with the principal western historical societies, has long been actively interested in such a publication, and has repeatedly urged it. The passage of the above acts seemed to indicate final fruition of a long campaign for its achievement, so anxiously awaited by students of the constitutional history of the United States and of the western frontier. An inquiry by the chairman of this committee directed to the historical adviser of the State Department elicited the information that this publication is also under suspense.*

It would, therefore, appear that while the Washington Bicentennial Commission and the Library of Congress, respectively, are rapidly and competently preparing valuable publications of wide general interest and usefulness, the important publications of the Department of State are making less encouraging progress. The valuable series Foreign Relations would appear to be falling steadily into arrears, and the two great historical series, the Territorial Papers and the Instructions to United States Envoys Abroad, 1789–1889, have been indefinitely postponed. The committee regrets this lack of progress and has drafted proposed resolutions thereon.

IV. National Historical Commission.—In 1908 a committee made up of distinguished and competent members of this association prepared for President Roosevelt a report, dated November 28, 1908, on the desirability of creating a National Committee on Historical Publications, which proposal was transmitted to the President by the Committee on Departmental Methods January 11, 1909. This report ended with a proposed draft of an act of Congress to provide for the creation of a Commission on National Historical Publications, of nine members, to be nominated by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate, from among the members of the American Historical Association, and to provide for the publication of such volumes of material for American history as might be considered by such a commission to be useful. It was hoped at the time that this commission would be created by an act of Congress and that it could begin a dignified and valuable series of publication of records of all kinds, following the example and even excelling the work of European governments of lesser financial resources. Twenty-two years have elapsed since the labors of these distinguished scholars brought forth this highly interesting and constructive report and absolutely nothing has been done about it. This committee feels that one of the most important services of this association would be to promote the creation of such a commission on the lines laid down by the report of 1908. It believes, further, that the present time is appropriate for a program of action on this matter, particularly in view of the impending legislation for the organization of a national archives, which will result in a more effective preservation and organization of manuscript sources now in the custody of the various branches of the Federal Government.

In this connection, the committee calls the attention of the council to a paragraph in the proposed archives organization bill (consult Section III of the proposed archives organization bill [S. 3354] introduced into the last session of the Senate by Senator Smoot).

V. Proposed resolutions.—This committee presents to the council of the American Historical Association the following resolutions for adoption by the association:

1. Resolved, That this association regards the publication Foreign Relations as highly essential to the proper understanding by scholars and historians of recent foreign relations, as well as for wider education of our citizenry, particularly through the medium of universities and schools and historical societies; that it notes with increasing anxiety the arrears of this publication and respectfully petitions the honorable the Secretary of State that the publication of this series be accelerated for the better information of the people of the United States as to the recent history of their diplomacy.

2. Resolved, That this association notes with particular concern the apparent suspension of publication of the series of Papers in Washington Archives Concerning the Territories, as provided for by the acts of Congress of March 3, 1925, February 23, 1929, and April 18, 1930; that it regards this publication of infinite value for the study of the constitutional history of the United States, as well as the history of the American West; and that it hereby petitions the honorable the Secretary of State, to whom the act entrusted the publication of the aforementioned series, that the editing and printing of this series, already authorized by law, may be put in motion forthwith.

3. Resolved, That this association notes with peculiar anxiety that the publication of the series of Instructions to United States Envoys Abroad, 1789-1889, commenced in 1923 by the Department of State, has been apparently long in suspense; that this association regards such a publication as of supreme importance and usefulness for the proper understanding of the history of American diplomacy; that it respectfully petitions the honorable the Secretary of State that the work on the preparation of this series may be resumed as soon as possible, and carried forward to an early completion.

In regard to the first of the above-mentioned resolves, the committee calls the attention of the council to the fact that a joint committee of the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, and the American Society of International Law has been entrusted with the duty of stimulating the acceleration of work on this publication. In case this joint committee is now actively engaged in such a way as to promise effective results, it would be unnecessary for the council at this time to present the resolution in question.

This committee recommends also that means be taken, by correspondence with historical societies and cultural foundations throughout the Republic, to stimulate the passage of numerous resolutions of similar import to the above resolutions (1), (2), and (3), for communication to the honorable the Secretary of State in the hope that the proof of a widespread demand may impress the proper authorities with the desirability of resumption of work, and hastening of publication of this important historical series.

This committee further recommends to the council that it devise and place before the association appropriate measures through which this association may marshal its influence and resources for the creation of a National Historical Commission as recommended in the above-mentioned report of November 24, 1908.

Respectfully submitted.

SAMUEL FLAGG BEMIS, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE CARNEGIE REVOLVING PUBLICATION FUND

The committee on the revolving fund begs to report as follows:

Notwithstanding the general depression in business, the business of this establishment has been flourishing beyond all precedent. Instead of having very few manuscripts submitted to us, and those, in many cases, not suitable for publication by the association, we have within the year 1930 received 11 substantial works. The problem, therefore, has come to be one of severe selection, and the prospects those of a comparatively early exhaustion of the fund. Two volumes are now in the press and have been promised with the imprint of 1930; one of them, Miss Bruce's book on Iron Manufacturing in Virginia, ought to be out any day; the other, Sanborn's Early History of Maritime Law, should be out on the 1st of December. In addition to these we have approved and are about to put into the hands of the printer two more—Carroll's French Public Opinion and Foreign Affairs, and Miss Allyn's A History of the Contest between the House of Lords and the House of Commons. These should appear within the early months of 1931. Two other manuscripts have been reported upon favorably by outside readers and are now being read by members of the committee. Four are being read for the committee's discussion. Still three others are being prepared by their writers, who have asked to submit them to the committee but do not have them yet quite complete. That is to say, there are nine manuscripts seeking publication, besides those already approved. Among these nine several, certainly more than half, are from scholars of established reputation and seem to be valuable pieces of work. If three of these nine should be approved for publication, say in the later months of 1931 and the early months of 1932, it would make our series consist of 10 substantial volumes. As the cost of publication of those which have already appeared averages something over $2,000 apiece, if the same average should continue we should, within 18 months from the present, have exhausted the original grant, with the exception of such returns as have come in from sales. The exact proceeds will be before council in the report of the treasurer,²⁷ but roughly it has amounted to a return of one-tenth to one-fifth on the cost of each work. If this continues, or improves, as it well may do, it would give us enough money to publish two more volumes before the end of 1932. Possibly it may do better, especially as the publishers think that some of the books will actually return the original outlay. But at best, we must anticipate an exhaustion of the fund within two years or somewhat more, and after the publication of about 12 volumes.

The question, therefore, comes up whether the association should make an early application to the Carnegie Corporation for another grant. A year ago we should have questioned the desirability of such action, but, judging from the number and character of works submitted this year and others concerning which there has been correspondence, it seems now that there is a real need and will be a valuable response to this opportunity. We would, therefore, suggest that the council take such action as seems to it wise.

An interesting fact about the works submitted to us is that four of them concern themselves with Chinese subjects. Of these, one was declined on the ground that it contained nothing original. Another, now under consideration, will probably be declined on the ground of not being historical in character. The other two, however, are interesting and valuable contributions, and will probably be approved by the committee. Whether this interest in matters

²⁷ See pp. 44 ff.

Chinese is the result of the efforts made by the committee of the Council of Learned Societies, or is due to the fact that Chinese history is still virgin soil for western students, or because of China's present insistence on keeping herself in the eyes of the world, the fact remains that we have received more on Chinese than on either American or European history.

The committee wishes to recommend the addition of one more to their group, and suggests that the requirement that the president should be a member of the committee ex officio should be withdrawn. This proves to be a hard-working committee; and with the best intention of the chairman to divide up the work and to secure such outside assistance as may prepare the way for making a decision, it is hard to get prompt and definite determination on policy and practice. It does not seem fair to ask the incumbent of the presidency to enter in detail into this work, yet it is a matter of embarrassment to continue the work of the committee without at least reporting to him what the rest of the committee are doing. Between these two alternatives the chairman has chosen the latter during the last year, and it would seem better, perhaps, not to make such a choice of alternatives necessary. With five working members of the committee it will, perhaps, be possible to get the work done more expeditiously. The chairman is very appreciative of the resolution passed at the last meeting of the board, authorizing him to have clerical and other administrative work done at the expense of the fund. The extent to which this has been done will be shown by the treasurer's accounts. The item is small in amount but large in the relief it has provided.

In any addition to or rearrangement of the committee, it is suggested that geographical contiguity be considered. It would be very much better if it were possible for the committee to meet more frequently than at the annual meeting of the association.

Respectfully submitted.

E. P. CHEYNEY, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON PERMANENT QUARTERS

A meeting of the committee was held in April at the office of Mr. Fairfax Harrison. The problem was carefully discussed, and the most hopeful plan seemed to be to persuade some real-estate firm of Washington to build an office building on Capitol Hill not far from the Library of Congress. The only chance of success in such a plan would be to obtain assurances from a sufficient number of organizations that in case such a building were erected they would be ready to rent quarters. With this assurance the plan might commend itself to a building firm. The chairman has talked with representatives of several organizations but as yet has been unable to obtain enough approval of the scheme to justify approaching any firm with the plan. It was expected to make further inquiry this fall.

The offices of the association and of the Review at 40 B Street SW. have proven satisfactory as well as convenient. The building is not an ideal one, there being a good deal of shifting in the tenancy of the various apartments. Of course, this does not affect the work of the association, although the surroundings sometimes do not seem to be ideal. So far as the office force of the Review and of the association is concerned there is no present desire to move.

Respectfully submitted.

HENRY E. BOURNE, Chairman.

OCTOBER 24, 1930.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE BIBLIOGRAPHY OF AMERICAN TRAVEL

The last report on this project appears to have been submitted under date of November 23, 1928. An appropriation of $250 had been made by the American Historical Association for the year 1928 and all of this except $6.37 was used up by the end of that calendar year. For 1929 the association appropriated $500. It was very difficult, however, to find competent assistants who would work on any basis that the small fund available would permit, and no further progress was made until about October 1, 1929. From that date until March 1, 1930, a part-time assistant was employed and some progress was made on the work.

In February, 1930, information was received that the American Council of Learned Societies had allotted $2,500 to the American Historical Association for 1930 and had set aside a similar amount for 1931, the sums to be expended in the completion of the bibliography. Arrangements were made, therefore, for the employment of a full-time assistant beginning March 1 and in September another assistant, working about two-thirds time, was added to the staff.

As stated in the report for 1928, the principal work for that year was the checking of Sabin's Dictionary of Books, which yielded about a thousand new titles for the bibliography. With the resumption of work in the fall of 1929, these new titles were checked with the Library of Congress catalogue at the University of Minnesota library, as were also new titles drawn from a variety of other sources, and Library of Congress cards were ordered so far as they were available. Some other bibliographies and catalogues have also been checked for additional titles, but the main work in the latter part of the year has been the drafting of annotations for works available in the library of the Minnesota Historical Society.

It is estimated that the bibliography now contains about 8,000 items not counting different editions. From a half to two-thirds of these are available in the Minnesota Historical Library and annotations have been written to date for about 2,000 items.

It is impossible to make any accurate estimate of the amount of time that will be required for locating elusive items in other libraries, for running down material in periodicals and historical society publications, and especially for revising the annotations, writing the bibliographical notes, and putting the entries in final form. It is intended, however, that this work of revision shall be started in the near future and carried along with the drafting of annotations.

Of the appropriation by the American Council of Learned Societies, $1,250 has been received to date and expenditures have amounted to $1,096.20, leaving a balance of $153.80. The remainder of the appropriation for 1930 will bring this up to $1,403.80, and it is estimated that expenditures for November and December will amount to about $400. It will clearly not be possible to complete the work in 1931, but it is estimated that approximately $2,500 will be needed for expenditures in that year. It is suggested therefore that the American Council of Learned Societies be asked to appropriate only $1,500 of the amount set aside for 1931 and to reserve the sum of $1,000 in its budget for 1932.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL HELD IN THE FACULTY CLUB, COLUMBIA UNI-VERSITY, FEBRUARY 1, 1930, 2.30 P. M.

Present: E. B. Greene, chairman, J. Franklin Jameson, Dixon R. Fox, the treasurer, and the secretary.

The secretary brought before the committee the question of appointments to various committees of the association. It was voted to appoint A. O. Craven to the committee on social studies in the schools. It was voted to appoint G. G. Andrews as chairman of the committee on Membership and Philip P. Chase as member of that committee. It was voted to substitute J. P. Baxter, 3d, as a member of the committee on program in place of S. E. Morison. It was voted to appoint E. P. Cheyney as a member of the ad interim committee, and in case he should be unwilling to serve to request William E. Lingelbach to serve in his place. It was voted to appoint D. C. Munro as a member of the International Committee on Chronology, and in case of his declination to request him to recommend some other in his stead. It was voted to appoint Ephraim D. Adams to represent the American Historical Association at the semicentennial of the University of Southern California.

The committee then proceeded to consider a report of the International Committee of Historical Sciences, drawn up by Allan Nevins, with regard to the project for a list of newspapers influential in the formation of public opinion. After some discussion, it was decided that Professor Fox should confer with Mr. Nevins with regard to this matter. No formal action was taken.

It was voted that the treasurer be requested to send out with the bills to members a statement to be prepared by Prof. E. P. Cheyney with regard to the work of the committee on the revolving fund.

The secretary laid before the committee a request from the Business Historical Society for a list of members of the association. It was voted that the secretary be instructed to inform the secretary of the Business Historical Society that such a list would be furnished on payment of the customary fee of $10.

The committee then proceeded to discuss the request of Mr. R. U. Johnson that the American Historical Association contribute to the expenses involved in the setting up of a bust of George Bancroft in the Hall of Fame. Mr. Johnson appeared before the committee. It was voted to constitute a committee composed of ex-presidents of the association to canvass the members with regard to such contribution. Of this committee J. B. McMaster was designated as chairman.

In accordance with the resolution of the association at the business meeting at Chapel Hill, December 31, 1929, it was voted to appoint a special committee composed of Ephraim D. Adams, chairman, J. Franklin Jameson, and Charles Moore with power to add to its number, which should wait upon the President of the United States to assure him of the interest of the association in the construction of a national archive building and request him to appoint a special committee to consider the questions involved in the preservation and administration of the national archives.

Prof. E. B. Greene reported in connection with the project already approved by the council for the expenditure of the Beveridge and Griswold funds. With regard to the Beveridge fund it was voted that Mr. Nichols be authorized to make arrangements with Dr. Dwight L. Dumond for a volume representative of selected newspaper editorials and occasional unpublished official correspondence showing the trend of public opinion in the South during the period of the secession movement and to grant to Doctor Dumond the sum of $1,200 on terms indicated by Professor Nichols, as follows:

1. Doctor Dumond shall be placed under a written contract to gather material and arrange it under the supervision of a committee of the association, which shall have the power to make such changes and rearrangements as may seem to them best. Such material as he gathers shall become the property of the association, and the association in return promises to pay the cost of publishing this work when it shall have received the final approval of its committee.

2. All expenses of collecting and editing of the material shall be borne out of this fund of $1,200. A complete account must be kept of all such expenses and submitted with the work.

3. If a further grant is necessary, a full accounting of the original grant shall be rendered to the council with the application for further funds.

4. During the course of the collection of this material Doctor Dumond shall be required to make regular reports to the committee at such times as shall be agree upon by Doctor Dumond and said committee.

With regard to the Griswold fund, Professor Greene reported the result of the conference on January 18 and the appointment of a special committee composed of C. M. Andrews, Felix Frankfurter, and John Dickinson to advance the consideration of the project. It was voted to authorize Professor Greene to draw upon the fund up to $1,500 for compensation, traveling expenses, and secretarial assistance.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE AD INTERIM COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION HELD IN THE OFFICES OF THE AMERICAN COUNCIL OF LEARNED SOCIETIES NOVEMBER 7, 1930, AT 10 A. M.

Present: E. B. Greene, chairman; J. F. Jameson, D. R. Fox, and the secretary. Prof. H. E. Bourne and Mr. Waldo G. Leland participated in the discussion.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The secretary transmitted certain correspondence with Mr. Levering Tyson, director of the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education, with regard to the formulation of an historical program to be given over the radio. It was voted that Professor Fox and Mr. Leland should be asked to confer with Mr. Tyson and report to the next meeting of the council.

The secretary brought before the committee the question of the appointment of a chairman for the committee on the George L. Beer prize. It was voted that the secretary be made acting chairman of this committee and that he make a list of works eligible for the prize and submit it to the committee.

The secretary laid before the committee a report of the committee on prizes. Some discussion followed. It was voted that it be recommended to the council committee on appointments in considering the prize committees for 1931 that three persons only be nominated to each of these committees. It was voted to recommend to the council that the final date for the submission of prize essays should be fixed on June 1 of the calendar year in which the prize is to be awarded. It was voted that prize committees be authorized to consider works of merit not formally submitted but falling within the field in which the prize is awarded, if published prior to October 1 of the year in which the prize is to be awarded. It was voted that it be suggested to competitors for prizes that three copies of their work, whether in manuscript or in published form, be submitted. It was voted that for the current year prize committees might at their discretion consider books published prior to October 1, 1930, whether formally submitted or not.

It was voted to recommend to the council that the committee on international cooperation be discharged.

It was voted that the committee on the national archives be discharged and that the president be empowered to appoint such a committee as circumstances may seem to require.

It was voted to appoint Prof. Arthur J. May, of the University of Rochester, as chairman of the committee on membership.

It was voted that the secretary of the association confer with Prof. Carl Becker as to the desirability of extending the conditions of the award of the Jusserand medal so that the prize might be awarded for the best work in the field of intellectual relations published during the year by any American scholar.

The committee proceeded to the consideration of the report of the chairman of the committee on publications. It was voted that the account of the annual meeting be omitted from the Annual Report in view of the publication of this account in the Review. It was voted to refer to the council the question as to whether the Writings be bound in heavy paper or in cloth as heretofore. It was voted to instruct the secretary to refer to the chairman of the Historical Manuscripts Commission the question as to the desirability of publishing the war diary of Attorney General Edward Bates in the Annual Report for 1930 if funds should be made available for this purpose.

It was voted to recommend to the council that the dues of the American Historical Association in the International Committee of Historical Sciences be fixed at $100.

It was voted to recommend to the council that the association defray the expenses of one delegate to the meeting of the International Committee of Historical Sciences to be held at Budapest in the spring of 1931, the total sum to be expended not to exceed $100. In connection with the meeting in Budapest Professor Bourne indicated his willingness to apprise the secretary of the names of members of the association who would be in Europe in the spring and from whose numbers a delegate might be appointed.

The committee adjourned for luncheon at 1.15.

The committee reassembled at 2.30.

The secretary submitted to the committee an outline of a work prepared by Prof. Lowell Joseph Ragatz, A Guide for the Study of British Caribbean History, 1763-1833. Professor Ragatz requested the endorsement of the association for the same with a view to securing financial support for its publication from the American Council of Learned Societies. It was voted that Professor Ragatz be directed to submit his manuscript to Prof. Robert L. Schuyler of Columbia University and that a report on it be secured from the latter. The secretary was instructed to inform Professor Schuyler of this decision and to suggest that he confer with Prof. C. M. Andrews of Yale University on the matter if he so desired.³⁸

Doctor Jameson presented a report of the committee on the documentary historical publications of the United States Government. The committee submitted certain resolutions for action by the council. It was voted that the secretary should submit these resolutions at the next meeting in case no action had been taken by the joint committee of the American Historical Association, the American Political Science Association, and the American Society of International Law created last spring.

The secretary transmitted to the meeting a vote of the Social Science Research Council providing a fund for conferences to be held by its constituent societies, with a view to defining their policies in relation to research. It was voted to appoint the delegates of the association in the Social Science Research Council as a preliminary committee of design to take steps toward such a conference and to suggest the names of those who should participate in it.

The secretary laid before the committee a resolution of the Social Science Research Council having to do with relations of teaching and research in American colleges. The secretary was instructed to acknowledge this resolution with appropriate comment thereon.

The secretary laid before the committee a proposal for ascertaining projects of historical research actually under way and of a post-doctoral character. It was voted that the secretary be requested to circularize the universities belonging to the American Association of Universities with a view to determining projects of research actually under way therein, and that he request the members of departments in those universities to furnish him with the names of any other persons now engaged in historical research in other institutions, not included in the above association.

It was voted to authorize Evarts B. Greene to draw from the income accruing from the Griswold fund up to July 1, 1931, such sums as might be required for the preparation of the studies in American legal history, provided for under that date.

Informal discussion as to the date of the next meeting of the council ensued. It was the consensus of opinion that the council might meet informally on Friday evening and that the formal session should be on the morning of Saturday, November 29. It was also suggested that Professors Krey and Schlesinger be invited to attend and that Professor Phillips be requested to make a report from the committee charged with the supervision of the project undertaken under the Beveridge fund.

It was voted to transmit to the council the suggestion of the Social Science Research Council that a meeting of the association be held in Chicago in the summer in connection with the exhibition in 1933.

The committee adjourned at 5 p. m.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION HELD IN THE TOWN HALL CLUB, 123 WEST FORTY-THIRD STREET, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 29, 1930, AT 9.30 A. M.

Present: E. B. Greene, chairman; J. F. Jameson, D. C. Munro, J. De R. Hamilton, D. R. Fox, U. B. Phillips, Elizabeth Donnan, the treasurer, and the secretary. Messrs. H. E. Bourne and A. M. Schlesinger participated in the discussion on the invitation of the council.

On the motion of Mr. Moore the reading of the minutes of the ad interim committee was dispensed with.

Professor Fox reported the result of a conference with Mr. Levering Tyson, the executive secretary of the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education. Mr. Tyson indicated to him that any program arranged by representatives of the American Historical Association and sponsored by the association could be widely broadcasted and that the expense of formulating such a program might be borne by the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education. It was voted that a committee should be appointed to draw up a program in conjunction with the National Advisory Council.

It was voted to concur in the recommendation of the ad interim committee that the date set for the submission of essays submitted for the various prizes of the association be fixed on June 1.

It was voted to concur in the recommendation of the ad interim committee that three members only be appointed to prize committees.

Discussion then took place as to the general policy to be followed in connection with the award of prizes, and in particular as to whether the award should be made to works of mature scholarship written by scholars of standing or rather to those who had not as yet published works of distinction. The action of the ad interim committee in voting to permit prize committees to consider works not formally submitted was thought by some members of the council unduly to enlarge the competition. After further consideration of the matter it was voted that to be eligible for prize awards works must be submitted to the various prize committees and that the council would not concur in the recommendation of the ad interim committee.

Mr. Moore presented to the council a statement of the finances of the association and indicated that there would be a deficit of approximately $5,000 for the year 1930. After discussion it was voted that a committee be appointed by the chairman to consider the financial status of the association and to report to the council at its next meeting, and that this committee take into consideration the financial affairs connected with the publication of the Review and of a permanent secretariat.

The council turned to the amendments presented by Professor Greene. After prolonged discussion these amendments, with certain modifications voted by the council, were adopted. In their final form they are as follows:

Article III, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Article IV, paragraph 3, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Article V, paragraph 1, line 1: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

Paragraph 2: Substitute for this paragraph the following:

"2. Elected members, eight in number, chosen by ballot at the annual meeting of the association. At the election of 1931, the persons so elected shall be assigned to four equal classes, the members of which shall be elected to serve respectively, for 1, 2, 3, and 4 years. Subsequent elections in each class shall be for four years, except in the case of elections to complete unexpired terms."

Article VI: Strike out the word "executive," before the word "council," in lines 1 and 6, and add the following paragraphs:

"For the transaction of necessary business when the council is not in session, the council shall elect annually an executive committee of not more than six members, which shall include the secretary and the treasurer, and may include not more than two persons not members of the council. Subject to the general direction of the council, the executive committee shall be responsible for the management of the association interests and the carrying out of association policies.

"The council, or when the council is not in session the executive committee, shall have authority to appoint an executive secretary, delegating to him such functions as may from time to time seem desirable and determining his compensation."

Article VII, line 3: Strike out the word "executive" before the word "council."

The council adjourned at 1 o'clock for luncheon.

The council reassembled at 2 o'clock.

The secretary presented a report from Professor Cheyney, chairman of the committee on the revolving fund, which indicated that there had been numerous applications for the use of the fund and that it would approach exhaustion by 1932. It was voted to express to Professor Cheyney the high appreciation of the council for his self-sacrificing work in the administration of the fund and to request him to provide the secretary with data to be transmitted to the Carnegie Corporation illustrating the actual use of the fund.

The secretary presented the report of the Public Archives Commission and particularly its recommendation looking to the preparation and publication of an archivists' guide. It was voted to approve in principle and to invite the Public Archives Commission to present more definite plans looking toward its preparation and publication.

The secretary presented a letter from Prof. Carl F. Wittke requesting that the council indorse the plan made by the American Association of University Professors to safeguard academic freedom. It was voted that the secretary be instructed to reply to Professor Wittke that it was the uniform practice of the council not to adopt resolutions which did not relate especially to the interests of history in the United States.

It was voted to approve the recommendation of the ad interim committee that the committee on international cooperation be discharged.

It was voted to approve the recommendation of the ad interim committee to fix the dues of the American Historical Association in the International Committee of Historical Sciences at $100.

It was voted to approve the recommendation of the ad interim committee that the association defray the expenses of one delegate to the meeting of the International Committee of Historical Sciences to be held at Budapest in the spring of 1931, the total sum to be expended not to exceed $100.

It was voted to refer to Professor Stock, chairman of the committee on publications, with power to act, the question as to whether the Writings be bound in paper or in cloth.

The secretary presented certain resolutions proposed by the committee on the documentary historical publications of the United States Government. It was voted that the secretary be requested to convey these resolutions with such modifications of form as might seem to him desirable to the honorable the Secretary of State. It was also voted that the secretary be instructed to communicate these resolutions to such other historical societies as the secretary should deem fit, with a view to securing action from them on this matter. The council discussed certain other matters connected with the report of the committee on the documentary historical publications of the United States Government and in particular the recommendation of the committee looking to the creation of a national archives commission. It was voted that the secretary be instructed to write to the chairman of the committee to secure representation for the American Historical Association on the bill for the organization of the national archives now pending in Congress.

Professor Phillips reported for the committee on the Beveridge fund indicating the progress of the work undertaken under its supervision by Dr. Dwight L. Dumond and the plans of the committee for the publication of other works indicating the state of public opinion in the South prior to the Civil War. It was voted that the chairman of the committee be authorized to utilize the income of the Beveridge fund for the purposes indicated and to concert arrangements with other authors similar to that made with Doctor Dumond.

Professor Greene reported for the committee on the Griswold fund indicating the progress of the project for the publication of sources in legal history.

The secretary presented to the council the suggestion of the Social Science Research Council for a meeting of its constituent societies, including the American Historical Association, in Chicago in the summer of 1933. It was voted that the secretary be instructed to write to representatives of the departments of history at Chicago and Northwestern with regard to this project.

It was voted that the secretary be given power to appoint a committee on program in consultation with members of the department of history at the University of Minnesota.

It was voted that the council should meet in Boston in the Hotel Copley-Plaza at 3 p. m. on Sunday, December 28.

It was voted that Professors Greene and Fox confer together and report to the secretary the names of members of a committee to confer with Mr. Tyson. The council then adjourned.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION AT THE HOME OF MRS. BAYARD THAYER, 84 BEACON STREET, BOSTON, MASS., ON DECEMBER 28, 1930. THE COUNCIL CONVENED AT 3.20 P. M.

Present: Evarts B. Greene, president; J. F. Jameson; D. R. Fox; S. E. Morison, U. B. Phillips; and the secretary. Profs. E. E. Robinson, of the Pacific Coast Branch, A. M. Schlesinger, and Mr. Waldo G. Leland attended on the invitation of the council.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and with minor changes approved.

The secretary presented a brief report indicating the activities of the more important committees of the association.

Professor Robinson indicated that the session of the Pacific Coast Branch was to be held this year at Leland Stanford University and submitted a paper-bound volume giving the papers read during the previous year. He asked that the appropriation of $500 made to the branch last year be continued.

The secretary read the report of the committee on endowment. The report was referred to the ad interim committee for consideration and such action as might be within its province.

The secretary presented to the council the reports of the various prize committees. The prizes were awarded as follows: The Justin Winsor prize to Leonard Woods Labaree for his book, Royal Government in America: A Study of the British Colonial System before 1783; the George Louis Beer prize to Bernadotte E. Schmitt for his 2-volume work, The Coming of the War, 1914; and the Jusserand medal to Otto Vossler for his book, Die Amerikanischen Revolutionsideale in ihrem Verhältnis zu den Europäischen.

The secretary presented numerous invitations to the American Historical Association to meet in Cleveland, in Lexington, Ky., and in Toronto in 1932. It was voted to recommend to the association that it accept the invitation proffered by the University of Toronto to meet in Toronto.

The secretary presented certain correspondence between President Greene and Mr. H. M. Lydenberg of the New York Public Library with regard to the revision of Larned's Literature of American History. It was voted that a special committee be appointed by the president to confer with Mr. Lydenberg with reference to the project.

The secretary then presented the report of the special finance committee under the chairmanship of Mr. Waldo G. Leland, and Mr. Leland explained the report in some detail. The council proceeded to consider the report item by item.

It was voted provisionally to allot to general expenses the income derived from that part of the Beveridge fund that is composed of living life memberships.

It was moved that the committee's recommendation to allot to general expenses the proceeds of a handling charge of one-half on the restricted funds be not accepted.

It was voted that the accumulated income of the Andrew B. White fund be applied to defray the expenses of the international activities of the association.

It was voted not to include in the budget an appropriation for a list of members in 1931.

It was voted not to provide members with copies of the Annual Report beyond the number provided for by the Government appropriation³⁰ but that libraries and life members might continue to receive the report by standing order.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation for the committee on program from $700 to $400.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation for the committee on local arrangements from $150 to $100.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation for the committee on bibliography on British history from $500 to $300.

The council adjourned at 6.30 p. m.

The council reassembled at 8.30 p. m.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation for the historical manuscripts commission from $350 to $100.

It was voted that the October number of the American Historical Review be not sent to those who were delinquent in payment of their bills to the association.

It was voted to authorize the board of editors to affect such economies in the management of the Review as would involve for the coming year a saving of $540.

It was voted to strike from the budget an appropriation of $100 for the expenses of the delegate to the International Meeting of Historical Sciences in Budapest in May, 1931.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation for the Writings on American History from $700 to $500.

It was voted that the treasurer, in sending out the July bills, should make an appeal to members of the association for an additional contribution, and that this appeal should also be sent to provisional life members.

It was voted to reduce the appropriation of the Pacific Coast Branch from $500 to $400.

It was voted to refer to the board of editors the recommendations of the special committee on finance with regard to The American Historical Review.

It was voted to appoint a standing committee on finance composed of the treasurer as chairman, the secretary, and two other members appointed by the president, this committee to report as early as possible with regard to the financial problems before the association.

It was voted to abolish the Justin Winsor and Herbert Baxter Adams prizes after their next award; that is, the Justin Winsor prize in 1930 and the Herbert Baxter Adams prize at the end of 1931.

³⁰ By law, 2,000 copies are provided the association for distribution to its members and 500 copies are sent to the Smithsonian Institution for transmission to organizations on its list.

It was voted that Schedules A and B of the report of the committee on finance be regarded as the budget for the year 1931,⁴⁰ subject to such modifications as had been voted by the council.

Mr. Phillips offered a resolution contemplating the assumption by some university of the editorial expenses of The American Historical Review. His resolution on this subject is appended.⁴¹ The matter was referred to the executive committee to be considered along with other possibilities for relieving the budget of the association of some expense.

The committee on appointments reported with regard to certain committees of the association. It recommended that the ad interim committee be composed for 1931 of Mr. J. F. Jameson, C. A. Beard, D. R. Fox, W. E. Lingelbach, the secretary, and the treasurer. The recommendation was adopted.

The committee on appointments recommended that the committee on appointments for 1931 be comprised of W. T. Root, Christopher B. Coleman, J. G. De R. Hamilton, and the secretary. The recommendation was adopted.

The committee on appointments recommended that the committee on the George Louis Beer prize be composed of Reginald G. Trotter, R. J. Sontag, and Louise Brown. The recommendation was adopted.

The committee on appointments recommended that H. S. Commager be appointed on the committee on the revolving fund. The recommendation was adopted.

The committee on appointments recommended that Messrs. W. G. Leland and H. B. Learned be appointed to a newly constituted committee on finance. The recommendation was adopted.

It was voted that the scope of the Dunning prize be henceforward enlarged to cover the whole field of American history.

It was voted to send to Prof. Charles H. Haskins the friendly greetings of the council.

It was voted to express to Mr. Charles Moore the warm appreciation by the council of his long and generous service to the association and its sense of the great value of these services.

It was voted to express to Mrs. Bayard Thayer, in whose home the council had been meeting, their appreciation of her gracious hospitality.

The council adjourned at 10.30 p. m.

DEXTER PERKINS, Secretary.

PREAMBLE AND RESOLUTIONS TO BE RECOMMENDED TO THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION, PRESENTED BY PROF. U. B. PHILLIPS

Whereas this association is facing a large deficit in its current accounts, and it is expedient that means be sought whereby the association may be relieved of the editorial expenses of The American Historical Review, if such relief may be procured without impairing the quality of that Review or altering its status as the organ of this association:

Resolved, That a committee of three members, to be appointed by the president of this association and to include himself, be instructed to invite from leading universities of its own selection proposals for the furnishing by any such university of a managing editor, office and clerical assistance for The American Historical Review free of expense to this association; and that

Resolved further, That upon receiving such proposals from one or more universities the said committee shall consider such proposals, along with the qualifications of such persons as may be proposed by such universities for the managing editorship of the Review, and shall make a recommendation to the executive committee of this association;

Resolved further, That upon the receipt of such recommendation the said executive committee, if it approves thereof, shall be empowered on behalf of this association to make a contract with the selected university to the following effects:

1. The American Historical Review, though continuing as heretofore to be the organ of this association and to be controlled by a board of editors elected as heretofore by this association, shall be edited at that university and managed by the member of its faculty proposed and approved as above provided.

2. Upon the death, resignation, or disability of such managing editor, a temporary or permanent successor may be appointed by agreement between the authorities of that university and the executive committee of this association.

3. Such contract as a whole may be terminated at the instance of either party thereto upon six months' notice of its purpose.

MINUTES OF THE MEETING OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE COUNCIL HELD AT THE COPLEY PLAZA HOTEL, DECEMBER 31, 1930, 2.30 P. M.

Present: J. F. Jameson, U. B. Phillips, the treasurer, and the secretary.

Prof. H. E. Bourne attended for the Review.

It was voted that Charles A. Beard should be elected chairman of the committee.

It was voted that the dates of the Minneapolis meeting be December 28 to 30, 1931.

It was voted to authorize the secretary to apply to the American Council of Learned Societies for a grant of $1,000 for assistance in the preparation of a program of historical research, it being understood that two more persons should be added to the planning committee appointed by the council at its November meeting, in consultation with the executive secretary of the American Council of Learned Societies.

Professor Sioussat having declined to serve on the committee on the revolving fund, it was voted to appoint R. L. Schuyler in his place.

Professor Phillips presented a contract for publication of the first volume authorized to be published under the Beveridge fund. It was voted to authorize him to proceed on the basis of this contract, with a slight modification of its eighth article and after having taken legal advice as to its phraseology.

It was voted that the secretary be requested to notify contributors to the Beveridge fund of the use to which that fund is being put and of the work in contemplation.

It was voted to appoint Mrs. Frank T. Griswold, of Radnor, Pa., a member of the committee on finance.

The secretary presented the request of Professor Ramsdell for a larger appropriation for the public archives committee, with a view to the preparation of an archivists' guide or manual. It was voted to inform Professor Ramsdell that, in view of the existing state of the finances of the association, no further appropriation could be made for the present.

It was voted that the registration fee at the meeting of 1931 and subsequent meetings should be $1.

Doctor Jameson, reporting for the board of editors, indicated that the board of editors had taken such measures, in accordance with the request from the council, as would, after the absorbing of present commitments, effect a saving of $1,000 per annum.

The committee adjourned at 4 p. m.

DEXTER PERKINS, Secretary.

II. PROCEEDINGS OF THE TWENTY-SIXTH
ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PACIFIC COAST BRANCH OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, CALIF., DECEMBER 29-30, 1930

PROCEEDINGS OF THE TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE PACIFIC COAST BRANCH OF THE AMERICAN HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION¹

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association was held at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., on Monday and Tuesday, December 29-30, 1930. The program committee consisted of Profs. Osgood Hardy, Occidental College, chairman; William H. Cooke, Pomona College; Leland H. Creer, University of Washington; and Lawrence A. Harper, University of California. The committee on arrangements consisted of Prof. Yamato Ichihashi, chairman, Prof. David Harris, Harold W. Bradley, and Edward A. White, all of Stanford University.

In the absence of President Frank W. Pitman, of Pomona College, the vice president, Prof. Dan E. Clark, of the University of Oregon, presided over the sessions.

At the Monday morning meeting, devoted to European history, the first paper was read by Prof. C. Eden Quainton, of the University of Washington, on The Mission of Antoine de Bordeaux and Paul de Castelmore, Baron de Baas, to England, 1653-54. The article dealt with the efforts of France, then at war with Spain, to effect a rapprochement with England. Mazarin, fearful of Spanish influence with Cromwell, sent two envoys. One of them, de Baas, was suspected of engaging in a plot against the Protector and was sent home. The probability is that Mazarin intended that Antoine de Bordeaux should seek an alliance in the usual way, while de Baas, a free lance, could engage in royalist plots and seek the restoration of Charles Stuart, then an exile in France.

In The Macedonian Problem at the Paris Peace Conference, Prof. Edith P. Stickney, of Pomona College, pointed out that, because Serbia was on the victorious side, the Macedonian frontier remained practically unchanged. The provision for a Greco-Bulgarian exchange of population is important and Venizelos' proposal for the extension of the idea to the rest of the Balkan peninsula is interesting. Serbian opposition both to the British proposal for supervision of Macedonia by the League of Nations and to the Italian alternative of autonomy prevented any special protection to minorities.

Prof. Francis A. Herrick, of Mills College, discussed The Abandonment of Splendid Isolation: British Politics and the Foreign Office at the Close of the Nineteenth Century. He attributed great importance to the reorganization of the Foreign Office in the 1880's with the development of a corps of trained officials and permanent undersecretaries, with the result that the permanent department of some 70 officials became more important than the temporary political head. The office rather than the minister determined policy. This fact made for continuity in foreign policy.

In Historical Method and Some Chapters in Diplomacy, July, 1914, Prof. Silas C. Feemster pointed out the need for more monographs before any adequate account of the events of that month could be written. Prof. Ralph H. Lutz, of Stanford University, read a paper on The July, 1917, Crisis in Germany. He discussed the attacks of Erzberger and Stresemann upon the war policy of the chancellor. For the first time in history, then, the Crown consulted the Reichstag leaders on the question of a change of chancellors. Bethmann-Hollweg fell and with him ended the Bismarckian tradition of government.

At the Monday afternoon session, Prof. John C. Parish, of the University of California at Los Angeles, read a paper on Reflections upon the Nature of the Westward Movement. He pointed out that the westward movement was already a century and a half old before independence was achieved and that it is still in evidence. Unlike the centripetal penetration in Australia and Africa, the Anglo-American advance was always to the west. Motivated by economic necessity, love of adventure, discontent, and other forces, the hunters, traders, and actual settlers pushed the frontier ever westward. It was a phenomenon of national importance with an interrelation of West and East. While cultural influences migrated to the West, the latter had an energizing effect upon the East. This paper was discussed by Profs. R. C. Clark, of the University of Oregon, Owen C. Coy, of the University of Southern California, and Howard A. Hubbard, of the University of Arizona, who made specific application of these generalizations, respectively, to Oregon, California, and Arizona.

The Tuesday morning session was devoted to the Pacific area. Prof. Esson M. Gale, of the University of California, read a paper upon Far Eastern Trade Routes and Cargoes: A New England Ship Captain's Letters, 1850-1856. The article dealt with the voyages of Capt. John Anderson out of Boston to the Orient. The letters throw no light upon politics, but are full of information upon problems of navigation, freight rates, and articles of commerce in the fifties.

Harold Bradley, of Stanford, discussed The Early Advance of the Frontier into the Pacific Area. The first Americans in Hawaii were sailors who left their ships to remain in the islands. They were followed by representatives of trading firms and by missionaries. Before long, commerce was almost exclusively in American hands, and economic penetration ultimately determined political control.

In Hawaii and the Spanish-American War, Prof. Thomas A. Bailey,² of the University of Hawaii, showed how little pretense of neutrality was made in the islands. Annexationists took advantage of the war to push through their project. Their arguments as to the necessity of Hawaii as a coaling station were fallacious, for the Aleutian route to the Far East was shorter, as safe, and as satisfactory for coaling stations. With the destruction of Cervera's fleet the war was won, yet annexation came some days later.

In the Tuesday afternoon session, papers in American history were read. Prof. G. H. Guttridge, of the University of California, discussed English Liberty and the American Revolution. Although George III was pursuing a strictly constitutional course, it was not a healthy one. He was clinging to an outworn system. The English radicals saw the problem, but it was America that fought and overthrew the king's system. Charles E. Nowell, of San Diego State College, read a paper on Santiago de Liniers, Savior of the Argentine. Santiago de Liniers, French by birth, had been in Buenos Aires 20 years when, in 1807, a British force captured the city. By his ability as an organizer he expelled the invaders and repelled a second attempt at conquest.

Sister Mary Loyola, of the College of the Holy Names, in New Mexico as a Factor in the Westward Movement, pointed out that New Mexico as a focal point in American expansion had not been sufficiently recognized. She discussed the Santa Fé trade, Kit Carson and the trappers, and the importance of Santa Fé as a half-way station to California. Effie Mona Mack, of the Reno High School, in William Morris Stewart, Empire-Builder, sketched the career of one who came West in search of gold and remained to become a maker of Nevada. Later he went to the Senate, where he was always a defender of the miners and the silver men.

The annual dinner was at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Stanford Union, with Prof. Yamato Ichihashi, of Stanford University, as toastmaster. In the absence of President Pitman, his address on Impressions of Russia, 1930, was read by the vice president, Prof. Dan E. Clark.

Professor Pitman was one of a group of 40 professors, lecturers, journalists, and 3 United States Senators who journeyed to Russia in the summer of 1930. He was impressed by the teeming crowds of people in Moscow. Yet in spite of the increase in population, a major phenomenon in Russia to-day, unemployment is practically nonexistent. The effective mobilization of labor is due to the 5-year plan for the development of Soviet Russia. Propaganda in behalf of the plan is ubiquitous in Russia. The first year was heralded as a success, the general increase in production being 2 per cent above the plan. In the second year (1929-30) the proposed acceleration in production has not been attained, particularly in building construction, transportation, and coal. The real obstacle appears to be the inefficiency of the thousands of inexperienced workers who have only recently emerged from peasant life. The record of actual accomplishment, nevertheless, appears to be a solid and impressive achievement. The observer is also struck by the spirit of genuine concern for the welfare of labor and by the pride of the workers in the initiation of their new social order.

The provision of the 5-year plan for the socialization and mechanization of agriculture arose (1) from a desperate need for agricultural produce for home consumption, (2) from the necessity for creating a surplus of grain for export with which to establish credits abroad, and (3) from a determination to liquidate the growing capitalist class in agriculture, the kulaks, who instituted the chief menace to communist control. State farms, which are very successful, have been established. Voluntary peasant collectives are now encouraged, so that one-fourth of the peasants of the Soviet Union are to-day engaged in collective farming.

The new material environment of Russia, wrote President Pitman, has exercised a profound influence in remolding institutions and culture. Government is an unqualified dictatorship, with political discussion confined to less than 2,000,000 communists who act as its reliable agents. In the arts, the revolution has not been iconoclastic. A trip to Russia is supremely worth while if for no other reason than to view the priceless treasures in the galleries and museums of Moscow and Leningrad. Though, in content and form, art is still in the main traditional, there are attempts to express the new passion for mechanics and collectivism. In education, the objective is frankly to prepare the child for citizenship in a communistic society. Religious freedom nominally prevails, but priests and sectarians are narrowly restricted to the exercise of their cults. By antireligious education and conversion to the new millennial gospel of communism, traditional religion is to be destroyed forever.

"Whatever Russia means," concludes Professor Pitman, "one thing it clearly demonstrates, that fixations in culture, in economic and social philosophy are foreign to human nature; that life is essentially dynamic."

The business meeting of the Pacific Coast Branch followed the Tuesday morning session. The secretary-treasurer, Prof. Carl F. Brand, of Stanford University, reported that the Pacific Coast Branch had a membership of 314 of which 284 were individuals and 20 libraries and institutions. During the year, an effort had been made to introduce the annual Proceedings into eastern libraries, which resulted in some success. The subvention of $500 from the American Historical Association, supplemented by income from the sale of Proceedings and a registration fee at the annual meeting, would enable the branch to meet its expenses for the year.

The committee on nominations, consisting of Profs. Robert J. Kerner, chairman, Osgood Hardy, and R. C. Clark, reported the following nominations:

President, Dan E. Clark, University of Oregon.

Vice president, Edward M. Hulme, Stanford University.

Secretary-treasurer, Carl F. Brand, Stanford University.

The council: The above officers, and Reginald F. Arragon, Reed College; Frederic C. Church, University of Idaho; Robert G. Raymer, University of Redlands; J. J. Van Nostrand, University of California.

Committee on publications: John C. Parish, chairman, University of California at Los Angeles; Donald G. Barnes, University of Washington; Dan E. Clark, University of Oregon; George P. Hammond, University of Southern California; Louis K. Koontz, University of California at Los Angeles; Percy A. Martin, Stanford University.

On motion the report of the committee was adopted and these nominees were declared elected for the ensuing year.

The committee on resolutions, consisting of Profs. Robert G. Raymer, Paul H. Giddens, Edward L. Harvey, and Monsignor Joseph Gleason, presented the following resolutions, which were adopted:

Resolved, That a letter of greeting be sent to our president, Dr. F. W. Pitman, and the ladies of the history department for their hospitality and entertainment.

Resolved, That a letter of greeting be sent to our president, Dr. F. W. Pitman, who is absent in Europe.

Resolved, Whereas death has once more invaded the ranks of the Pacific Coast Branch of the American Historical Association and thereby taken from us two of our most devoted leaders, it is proper that at this meeting we express our real sense of loss in the demise of Professors Adams and Golder, of Stanford University.

Ephraim D. Adams, senior professor of history and long administrative head of the department in Stanford, was widely recognized as our greatest authority on the diplomatic relations of Great Britain and the United States during our Civil War, the outcome of his conscientious researches in the British Foreign Office and the archives of the State Department in Washington.

Frank Golder, from the time of his graduation in Harvard and his later studies under Luchaire in Paris, turned his attention to Russian history, and in time won recognition as one of the foremost American specialists in that field.

Both Professor Adams and Professor Golder were productive savants whose works remain as models of that sound scholarship and love of truth which are the ideals of the historical worker. Both had the gift of accurate and pleasing phrase in the expression of their conclusions.

The services of both were utilized during the great post-armistice period in the formation and organization of the famous Hoover War Library. Professor Adams was the first administrator of this rich treasure; and Professor Golder, in the days of the great Russian famine, not only represented his university as well as his country in the relief of distress, but used his opportunity among that people to acquire many valuable books and documents for the Hoover War Library.

Professor Adams, with his quiet humor, while always welcome at the sessions of the Pacific Coast Branch, was doubly welcome at the special meeting for high-school teachers of history, whom he always encouraged to leadership and to thoroughness.

The friendships of both men were sincere. They drew affection. They held their colleagues and they inspired their students. They worked hard themselves, and, led by their example, their students were willing to slave for them.

We who are left find a rare comfort in the memory of these two men, to whom in great extent the Pacific Coast Branch owes its development; and we share in the sorrow of their university and their respective families.

The meeting considered the question of publications. Prof. John C. Parish discussed some of the problems connected with the annual Proceedings. Prof. Herbert I. Priestley reported for the special committee on the proposed Pacific Coast Historical Quarterly. The committee thought the estimated expense of the periodical, about $2,000, could be met by the annual subvention from the American Historical Association, by guaranties from history departments in the West, from subscriptions, advertising, and donations. After discussing at length the nature and scope of the proposed quarterly, the meeting, on motion of Prof. Osgood Hardy, voted to authorize the publications committee to go ahead and prepare to launch a quarterly in January, 1932. Prof. Robert G. Raymer proposed a motion, which was carried, to leave questions of the scope of the journal for the consideration of the publications committee.

Invitations for the next annual meeting were extended by the University of California, Fresno State College, and, jointly, by the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles. The invitations were referred to the council.

III. NOTES FROM THE ARCHIVES OF SCOTLAND
CONCERNING AMERICA

BY
DR. J. FRANKLIN JAMESON

PREFACE

After the department of historical research in the Carnegie Institution of Washington had put forth its "Guides" to the materials for American history in the English archives, it was natural for its director to consider whether something similar should not be done with respect to the national archives of Scotland and Ireland. A brief reconnaissance made by him at Edinburgh and Dublin, in the spring of 1913, led to the resolve that, though the amount of material for American history in those archives was relatively small, some effort should be made to secure and publish more ample information regarding it. The subsequent destruction of the Irish public record office and its contents, during the insurrection of 1922, has removed that repository from such consideration.¹ By the successive and interrupted labors of Miss Margaret Isabella Adam, Miss Cargill, Miss Sybil Norman, and Miss Ruth A. Fisher (three Scottish ladies and one American), at various dates from 1914 to 1922, some exploitation of the archives in the General Register House at Edinburgh was carried out. The Carnegie Institution permits the following publication of results.

The General Register House, a handsome building at the east end of Princes Street in Edinburgh, was erected in the later years of the eighteenth century, beginning in 1772, from designs by the celebrated Robert Adam, and was perhaps the first building in Europe constructed specifically for the housing of national archives. It contains more than 60,000 bound volumes of manuscript and an equivalent amount of unbound material. An excellent handbook of the contents has been provided in M. Livingstone's Guide to the Public Records of Scotland (Edinburgh, 1905), which may be supplemented by Dr. J. Maitland Thomson's volume of Rhind lectures on The Public Records of Scotland (Glasgow, 1922). But certain trial searches, with what knowledge was obtained from printed pages and through the obliging kindness of custodians, seemed to show that no portions of this great collection, save two, were likely to furnish the searcher for material relating to American history with more than scanty and casual gleanings. One of the two exceptions consisted in those few "Supplementary Parliamentary Papers" of 1703 and 1707 which Doctor Stock has printed in his Proceedings and ¹ See Herbert Wood, The Public Records of Ireland Before and After 1922, in Transactions of the Royal Historical Society, fourth series, XIII, 17-49.

Debates of British Parliaments respecting North America, III, 503-504, 510-511. The other was "decreets" and other records of the High Court of Admiralty, in which not a few cases illustrate navigation and trade to America.

Of the court of the High Admiral of Scotland Mr. Livingstone says (pp. 98-99), "The jurisdiction included the determination of all actions relating to maritime contracts, salvage, demurrage, etc., and in criminal matters, cases of piracy and mutiny, and other crimes committed on the high seas or within the limits of the Admiral's office. By common law a considerable jurisdiction in mercantile causes, not properly maritime, was also, . . . allowed to the Admiralty Court. . . . Clause 19 of the Treaty of Union provided for the continuance of the Court of Admiralty in Scotland, with the same powers and subject to the like review of its judgments [by the Court of Session], until the Parliament of the United Kingdom should make such regulations and alterations as should be judged expedient for the whole kingdom. The court accordingly continued to exercise its functions down to 1830, when, by the act 1 William IV, c. 69, it was abolished."

The following pages calendar all cases concerning North America and the West Indies, from 1703 to 1783. Certain cases concerning slaves were, for reasons valid at the time of notetaking, treated with exceptional fullness; though the reasons no longer operate, the notes of these cases have not been reduced. The spelling given to proper names in the original manuscripts has been preserved. It may not be superfluous to mention that, in Scots law, the terms "pursuer" and "defender" are used for the parties designated in English law by the terms "plaintiff" and "defendant."

A few American cases were also found in the register of the Criminal Court of Admiralty, and are noted. In an experimental way, a search was made through 13 months in 1773 and 1774 of the General Minute Book of the Court of Session, Scotland's highest court. The results were not at the time deemed to be of so much historical importance as to warrant continuance, but, such as they are, they are given here, after the cases from the criminal court.

There is also in the General Register House, as a separate thin volume, a Journal of a Voyage from Leith to Newfoundland and Barcelona [May, 1726-April, 1727] . . . by Edward Burd, jr., Merchant, Edinburgh, 34 folios, of which 15 relate to Newfoundland. Among casual notes mention may be made of the fact that the manuscript division of the National Library of Scotland (formerly the Advocates' Library) contains (no. 119) a commercial letter-book kept at Mobile from 1763 to 1770 and at Kinnaber in Scotland from 1770 to 1776 by Charles Strachan, of the firm of Charles Strachan and Co., traders at Mobile. Large amounts of manuscript material on the history of the Darien Company and settlement are to be found in that library and other repositories in Edinburgh, but these have been sufficiently exploited by Dr. John Hill Burton in his Bannatyne Club volume Darien Papers (1849), by Senator Bingham in his papers on The Early History of the Scots Darien Company in the Scottish Historical Review, Vol. III (1906), by J. S. Barbour in his History of William Paterson and the Darien Company (1907), by G. P. Insh in The Ships and Voyages of the Company of Scotland, etc. (1924), and his article on the founding of the company in Vol. XXI of the Scottish Historical Review, and by F. R. Hart in The Disaster of Darien (1929).

For final revision of certain items I am indebted to Miss Edith Macqueen of Edinburgh and the authorities of the General Register House.

J. FRANKLIN JAMESON.

Thomas Guybon brings action to collect money on a bond given him by John Ainsworth, who owns the Hannah Galley, which is employed in the service of the Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies.

vol. 13, pp. 1214-1278

1706, July 11 and Dec. 17. A continuation of the above case, Guybon etc. agt. directors of Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies.

vol. 13, pp. 1535-1780

Also in 1707, June 6, vol. 14, pp. 399-474.

1710, July 11. Margaret Gibb, widow of George Mosman, agt. William Dalling, skipper in Bo'ness,¹ for value of goods lost in Darien Expedition. (Mention made of quality and quantity of goods.) vol. 16, pp. 463-498

1710, Dec. 15. James Graham agt. Roderick McKenzie, former secretary to the company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies. James Graham was master of the Dolphin, one of the ships of the Company of Scotland trading to Africa and the Indies. He had been taken as prisoner to Cartagena, and wanted damages from the Company's "dead stock."

vol. 16, pp. 1064-1071

1711, July 3. George Gray, carpenter in Leith, hyred by Archbold Gallbreath, skipper and master of the ship the Friendship, of Leith, for £3 sterling per month, claiming wages for voyage from Leith to Maryland and back.

vol. 17, pp. 270-275

1711, Aug. 8. Robert Stewart, James Brabner, George Fordyce, merchants in Aberdeen, and company, owners of the ship formerly called the Johanna and now the Virginia Merchant of Aberdeen, Alexander Inglis, master, and John Innes, writer in Edinburgh, their factor, agt. Captain William Colyier of H. M. S. Mermaid, who had rescued their ship from a French privateer when on a voyage to Virginia, and wanted to keep the cargo. vol. 17, pp. 352-362

1711, Dec. 14. John Harrison and Joseph Edgar agt. William Roe for £100, the value of goods furnished for a voyage and cargo to and from the West Indies in 1709. John Shepherd, James Black, and William Roe were partners in a society for buying and selling tobacco and other sea-borne goods and in the cargoes of the Amity and Patience. vol. 17, pp. 537-540

1712, Aug. 12. Dr. James Crawford of Lochevat agt. Edmonstoun of Ednim (sic). Two years before, at Port Royal, Jamaica, Crawford entrusted to Edmonstoun two bottles of "cidron waters" and a gold guinea worth respectively £28 and £12-18-0 Scottish money. Would like repayment.

1713, April 1. John Mowbray agt. James Craigie. Lawrence Craigie, deceased, brother of James, accepted from John Mowbray a certain sum of money with which to buy 333 pound weight of Virginia leaf tobacco for the use of Mowbray in Norway. After his brother's death, James paid for one third of the tobacco, and action is now brought for the amount still due.

vol. 18, pp. 188-198

1714, Jan. 19. Michael Wallace, Glasgow merchant, agt. Patrick Jameson, shipmate in Borristouness. Robert Gregory, for Wallace, put on board Jameson's ship, the Eupham, 9 hogsheads of Virginia leaf tobacco to be delivered to James Murieson in Amsterdam. Delivery not being made, action is brought for the value of the tobacco, the expense of making enquiries concerning it, and interest on his money, viz. £1169-19-0, £12, £130, in all £1311-19-0 Scots money.

vol. 19, pp. 9-15

1716, July 31. Antony Whytesyde, of Whytehaven, Cumberland, agt. John Bogle, Glasgow merchant, for undue delay in voyage from Whytehaven to Virginia or Maryland and back. No details of outward cargo. Tobacco to have been brought back. The ship, the Mary Galley of Whytehaven.

vol. 21, pp. 550-599

1717, Aug. 17. George Gray, Glasgow merchant, agt. Robert Arthur, skipper in Crawfordsdyke. Arthur, as master of the ship the Fortoun of Glasgow, undertook for Gray, the sole freighter of the ship, in 1715, a voyage from Port Glasgow to Antigua and return. At Antigua Charles Dunbar and James Watson shipped on board 3 hogsheads of sugar which was damaged by water on the voyage. Action is brought for the value of the spoiled sugar.

vol. 22, pp. 440-478

1719, April 4. 'In roup' and sale of the Elizabeth of Montrose, Charles Ramsay, merchant, agt. George Bettie, merchant, Robert Burnet, Thomas Burnet, Robert Gentleman (relative of David Gentleman, deceased), Hendry Straton, and George Chapland, Jamaica merchants (executors of the estate of David Gentleman).

David Gentleman, as master of the Elizabeth of Montrose, for Ramsay, part owner of said ship, made several voyages to foreign countries, particularly to the West Indies, from March 16, 1716, to November 30, 1717, when he died in Jamaica. Neither Gentleman, during his life-time, nor his executors since, made any account or return of the profits of these voyages, for which action is now brought. The amount of these profits less necessary deductions is £719 sterling.

vol. 23, pp. 100-117

This case continues in vol. 26, pp. 908-967.

1720, Aug. 30. Robert Jackson, mariner, master of the Confirmation, of Workington, Cumberland, and Michael Heelkeld, currier in Whytehaven, his factor, agt. John McFarland, George Craig, Andrew Buchannan, and John Mitchell, Glasgow merchants, and John Govan of Mains, for failure to pay hire of ship on voyage to West Indies and American colonies. Sums paid for freight of sugar given, etc.

vol. 24, pp. 710-779

1720, Oct. 14. Alexander Duff of Drummore, William Frazer, merchant in Inverness, Alexander McIntosh of Wester Drakes, James Dunbar, Inverness merchant, and Alexander Tolmie, merchant in Fortrose, all part owners of the Ann Galley of Inverness, and George Roger as having right by commission from them, agt. Isobell Dawling, sister of James Dawling, skipper, deceased, Isaac Wyber, schoolmaster, her husband, and John Jerbie, shipmaster in Queensferry, for freight money owing. Account of "debursements" on voyage to various countries, including Virginia and the West Indies.

vol. 24, pp. 958-978

- 1721, March 10. Patrick Inglis, wryter in Eyr, agt. James Grahame of Kilmanman, admiral deput of the West Seas, and James Campbell of Stonefield, sheriff deput.

Rodger Hews and other sailors of the Eagle snow, through their pursuer, Inglis, bring action in order to recover, from their effects which had been seized, sufficient funds to pay the lawyers engaged to defend them at their trial on the charge of piracy. This snow began life as the Eagle of New York, sent with provisions to Barbados, but caught on the way by pirates.

(This is continued at intervals Aug. 11, 1721, to Feb., 1722, in vol. 25, pp. 854-946, 1106-1218, 1302-1404, and vol. 26, pp. 91-162. Further details in Criminal Records of Admiralty Court.)

- 1721, July 25 John Crookshanks of Wittenham and John Binning, wryter in Eyr, his factor, agt. George Lawson, Edinburgh merchant and bailie.

Crookshanks brings action against Lawson and Patrick Boyle, advocate, for the value of stock sold them in the South Sea Company, the time when they agreed to make payment being passed. The defence argues that this matter is not a "maritime" cause and hence not in the jurisdiction of the High Court of Admiralty, but rather a matter for the Lords of Sessions to deal with. The judges sustain this defence.

vol. 25, pp. 768-781

- 1721, July 28. Thomas Coates, merchant in Whytehaven, and others, owners of the ship the Mary and Francis of Whytehaven, and Captain Isack Langtoun, their factor, agt. Arthur Tran and Robert Robertson, Glasgow merchants, who had hired a ship for a voyage to Virginia and had kept it longer than the stipulated time.

vol. 25, pp. 822-827

- 1721, Aug. 22. David Alexander, late surgeon on board the Loyalty of Glasgow, agt. Richard Graham, William Anderson, and John Bogle, Glasgow merchants, for nonpayment of wages. The Loyalty had taken slaves from Guinea to Barbados, but the ship had been somewhere attacked by pirates. Witnesses of the piracy had gone to Virginia or Maryland, where owing to the want of "regular postadges," it was difficult to reach them.

According to accounts sent the defenders' factor in Barbados (Mr. Alex. Dundass) there were upward of fifty slaves belonging to the cargo of the Loyalty unloaded at Bridgetown in Barbados and disposed of for the defenders.

vol. 25, pp. 946-975

- 1722, March 30. John Senhouse, commander of the Catherine of Whitehaven, and his factor, John Binning, wryter in Edinburgh, agt. James Wallace and Arthur Park, Greenock merchants, who had hired the ship in 1718 for a voyage to Virginia or Maryland, and had not paid sufficiently for "freight, damage, and demurrage."

vol. 26, pp. 681-823

- 1722, Dec. 28. Robert Brown, John Dickson, and Samuel Cheisly, Glasgow merchants, agt. William Robertson, now master of the Albany, whom they had employed as supercargo on a voyage to Virginia. The supercargo had taken a good deal upon himself—bought a ship with his employers' money, but without permission, etc. and had refused to give an account of any of his proceedings.

vol. 27, pp. 2186-2199

- 1723, July 26. Robert Bunteine of Airdoch and Thomas Fleeming, merchant in Greenock, agt. Walter Blair and Co., merchants in Glasgow, for payment of freight, demurrage, and damage done on voyage to Virginia and Maryland on the Cathcart of Greenock.

vol. 28, pp. 715-915

A further action arising out of this is found in vol. 33, pp. 44-204.

1723, Sept. 13. Henry Spenser, James Gallispy, Richard Ryman, Richard Power, and James Dunning, sailors of the Queen Anne of Whitehaven, agt. William Lowe, master, and Alexander Arbuthnot, merchant, supercargo of said ship, for nonpayment of wages. They sailed from the harbor of Boston to the River Potomack in Virginia, thence to Whythaven.

vol. 28, pp. 1071-1097

1723, Nov. 12. Thos. Lutewidge, merchant, Whytehaven, and John Binning, wryter in Edinburgh, his factor, agt. William Lowes, master of the Queen Anne, James Thompson, carpenter in Dublin, and Robert Corson, ropemaker, owners of said ship, for bringing back a cargo of damaged tobacco from Virginia too late for the market.

vol. 28, pp. 1118-1135

This case is continued in another action in vol. 29, pp. 368-396 and pp. 456-553.

1725, Aug. 13. Crew of the Diligence of Glasgow agt. Capt. John Hamilton, master of the said ship, for nonpayment of wages on voyage to the Potomac and back.

vol. 31, pp. 1170-1212

1725, Nov. 16. Clement Nicolson, merchant, and others, owners of the ship Kent of Whytehaven, Joseph Gale, master of the said vessel, and John Binning, writer in Edinburgh, their factor, agt. Charles Miller, merchant and provost of Glasgow, and John Stirling, merchant and late bailley there. Pursuers had brought a cargo of tobacco from Virginia to defenders, who had not paid for it, and allowed it to lie too long before unloading it. Suggested that this was done to obtain government indemnity for damaged tobacco.

vol. 31, pp. 1458-1644

1726, Jan. 28 and Feb. 15. James McCulloch and Company of Belfast, owners of the Mary Galley, and James Mears, merchant there, their factor, agt. Robert Allan, Belfast merchant, for demurrage and other damage incurred on a voyage undertaken for the defender from Belfast to Barbados and back to Glasgow, by being unduly detained at Barbados by the defender.

vol. 32, pp. 116-213

1727, July 14. Robert Bogle, junior, Robert Robertson, John Gray, Arthur Tran, and Samuel McCaull, Glasgow merchants, for themselves and company, agt. Alexr. Horseburgh, supercargo and surgeon late of the Hanover brigantine of Glasgow, who had been commissioned in Nov., 1719, to go from "Clyde to the coast of Guinea, thence to the West Indies and home to Port-Glasgow, and to purchase with the outward Cargo as many slaves as the said ship would stow, and withe Rest of the Cargoe to purchase Gold Dust, Elephant's teeth", etc.

Horseburgh is charged with not accounting to the pursuer for all the slaves he purchased, as well as for not reporting correctly the amounts of his sales.

At Guinea, Horseburgh shipped aboard the Hanover 135 negro slaves, men, women, boys, and girls, whereof 87 living negro men, women, boys, and girls were delivered from the said ship to Horseburgh in Oct. and Nov. 1720, viz. four at Barbados, three at Nevis and the rest at Bastier [Basseterre] and Old Road in St. Christopher.

Horseburgh in a letter to Thomas Thomson, Glasgow merchant, now deceased, partner to one of the pursuers, from Old Calabar, June 9, 1720, states that he has 90 slaves on board for which he has paid 70 or 75 coppers per head for men and 60 for women, which at 18 pence per copper equals

£5-5-0 or £5-12-6 sterling per head for the men and £4-10-0 per head for the women.

In a second letter to Thomson from Barbados, Nov. 1, 1720, Horseburgh advises him of his arrival there with only about 77 slaves, whereas in truth there were 89 remaining alive, two-thirds of them having been purchased at Calabar. In a further letter from St. Christophers, Nov. 26, 1720, Horseburgh states that he had disposed of all the slaves for near £24 per head round, and that he was taking in sugars at 16 shillings per hundred sufficient to load the vessel.

vol. 33, pp. 433-583

1727, Dec. 9. Supplication regarding cargo of damaged tobacco from Virginia.

vol. 33, pp. 861-883

1728, April 26. Alex. Skene agt. John King, Alexander Baillie, Walter Dundass, John Aitchieson, and John Bowman, Glasgow merchants, who had sent him to Virginia in 1726 as supercargo on the Nightingale, a Whytehaven ship, and had omitted to pay his wages.

vol. 34, pp. 433-451

1728, Nov. 6. John Lyon, merchant in Port-Glasgow, agt. John Hay, John Riddell, John Gray, and John Buchannan, Glasgow merchants, to whom he had hired his vessel the Nanino, for a voyage to South Carolina, for non-payment of freight charges, etc.

vol. 34, pp. 697-708

1728, Nov. 8. Edward Lewis, master of the Centurion of Whyte-Haven, Elizabeth Lewis, and John Binning, factors, agt. Henry McCaull, John McFarlane, and Thomas Zuile, Glasgow merchants, who had paid no freight for tobacco brought by him from Virginia.

vol. 34, pp. 708-740

1730, Jan. 13. Thomas Lutwidge, Whitehaven, agt. Archibald Gray, John Buchannan, and John King, Glasgow merchants, who had hired his ship the Wharton to bring tobacco from Virginia. It was wrecked on the return voyage, but cargo was saved. Lutwidge desired payment of freight, etc.

vol. 35, pp. 58-200

1730, March 3. The crew of the Betty Doggar of Glasgow agt. Andrew and Archibald Grays, Glasgow merchants, for wages due on a voyage from Port-Glasgow to Jamaica and return.

vol. 35, pp. 354-364

1730, April 21. John Blane, merchant in Glasgow, agt. William Cunningham, John Baird, Thomas Wallace, and Matthew Crawford, Glasgow merchants. Blane had gone as supercargo on the Lillie brigantine, to Jamaica, had been taken by Spanish privateers on the return voyage, and had had various adventures. Wanted wages and expenses of passage home.

vol. 35, pp. 485-529

Question of the John, brigantine of Portsmouth, N. H., and cargo of timber purchased at Boston and brought to Leith. vol. 44, pp. 185-238; see also pp. 268-286
- 1738, March 9. Alex. Davidson, bookseller in Inverness, lately in Edinburgh, agt. William Backshell, merchant in London, and Captain Joseph Avery, who had "entered into a concert to transport people to S. Carolina" to plant a "Lordship" said to be the property of Joseph Avery. But they failed to transport the said Davidson and family, although he paid £13 passage money. vol. 44, pp. 287-296
- 1739, July 13. Richard and Alexander Oswald, merchants in Glasgow, agt. William and Henry Hogg and David Young, merchants in Glasgow, and James Weir, commander of the Diamond of Glasgow, concerning a cargo of tobacco shipped on board the Diamond in the river Potomac on Sept. 22, 1738. The Diamond, instead of coming as directly as possible to Glasgow or Greenock, put off time at Fort William or elsewhere. vol. 44, pp. 488-563
- 1740, March 21. Alex. McGillivrae, late of Carolina, now residing in Kelt, agt. Helen and Rebecca Dunbar and their husbands. vol. 45, pp. 49-173
- 1740, July 25. Matthew Robertson, shipmaster in Borrowstoness, agt. Archibald Hamilton, merchant in Edinburgh, and Mr. Hugh Hamilton, chamberlain to the Duke of Hamilton. The pursuer had entered into an agreement with John Laing, merchant of Cromarty, later of Maryland, to freight a vessel with codfish for Hamburg or any port in Norway. But the ship went to Bordeaux, changed its name, and took on board goods for the Duke of Hamilton. vol. 45, pp. 666-743
- 1754, June 25. Richard Hartley, master of the ship the St. George of Montrose, agt. Thomas Douglas, John Addison, Robert Dunbar, James Smith, junior, Robert Dickie, and Thomas Chrystie, junior, Montrose merchants, suing for wages due to him for a voyage from Scotland to the coast of Africa, thence to the West Indies and back to Montrose. vol. 46, pp. 51-62
- 1754, Aug. 21. Further material on the St. George in this vol. 46 is found on pp. 144-163. The St. George is here termed a snow, and on pp. 256-301, Oct. 24, 1754, "There was loaden aboard the said ship belonging to the said Thomas Douglas and Company upon the coast of Guinea at the date of the aforesaid assignation, or thereafter, Three Hundred Negroes or Slaves, which were carried to the Island of Antegoa, or some other Island or Islands in the West Indies. And there the said Richard Hartley sold and disposed of them, at thirty pounds Sterling each Amounting the price of the whole to nine thousand pounds sterling."
- 1754, July 5. Walter Orroch, merchant in Methil, agt. Alexander Gordon, merchant in Boston in New England. The defender when in Scotland entered into an agreement with pursuer, that a ship was to be sent from Scotland with a cargo of goods for the Boston market, the proceeds of the sale of which were to be used to build a ship there and freight it with flax-seed for Scotland. This agreement was not held to. vol. 46, pp. 101-106
- 1754, Aug. 13. John Forrest, Thomas Dundass, John Inglis, George Lind, James Stirling, Alexander Grant, and Andrew Allison, Edinburgh merchants, and Alexander Mitchell, merchant in Leith, partners of the Edinburgh Jamaica Shipping Company, and Messrs. Mansfield Sons and Hunter, cashiers to the said company, agt. Robert McClellan, merchant in Leith, clerk to the said

- company, charged with having "intromitted and uplifted" considerable sums due to them. vol. 46, pp. 130-135
- 1754, Aug. 23. John Freeman, junior, Thomas and Samuel Smith, Bristol merchants and partners, and Andrew Stewart, writer in Edinburgh, their factor, agt. John Rowand, junior, Glasgow merchant, for money, £314-11-0, owing for linen and other goods shipped on board the Lamb, John Price, master, in 1753, for Carolina. vol. 46, pp. 212-233
- 1754, August 30. Henry Wauchop, late of Maryland, merchant, agt. John Rowand, James Denniston, and Robert Berry, Glasgow merchants. The pursuer was employed by one of the said merchants, John Rowand, to take charge of a store in Virginia, to receive cargoes from Glasgow, dispose of them, and with the proceeds send back to Glasgow cargoes of tobacco. Is suing for a balance of five hundred pounds sterling, which he declares due to him for goods furnished to the aforesaid store. vol. 46, pp. 185-211
- 1755, March 4. John Trotter, merchant in Kingston, Jamaica, Walter Tullidolph, late of Antegoa, his attorney, James Dewar of Vogrie, and Robert Manzie, writer to the Signet, agt. Hugh McLauchlan, senior, formerly a merchant in Leith, but now of the town or parish of Kingston, Jamaica.
- McLauchlan and his family went from Leith to Jamaica on the snow Adventure, Captain James Hamilton, commander. By previous agreement, on his arrival at Jamaica he was to put on board said ship 50 hogsheds of sugar and rum. He, however, only put on board nine, whence this action arose. vol. 47, pp. 598-602
- 1755, March 19 and Dec. 24. James Coulter, James Spreull, Arch'd Ingram, James Johnstone, John Cross, George Buchannan, junior, and George Anderson, Glasgow merchants, agt. Robert McNair and James McNair, his son, also merchants in Glasgow, regarding a policy of insurance for the ship Jean, and the goods therein, in a voyage from Virginia to Barbados. (With extracts from journal of James McNair, master of the Jean.) vol. 47, pp. 32-597
- 1756, Feb. 13. James Mansfield, Sons, and Hunter, merchants in Edinburgh, agt. John Elphinston, merchant in Aberdeen, for the value of a shipment of goods sent out to Antegoa and Jamaica. vol. 48, pp. 970-973
- 1756, March 30 and April 13. William Wemyss, writer in Edinburgh, agt. Thomas Murray, master of the Wilmington. James Stewart at St. Thomas, Jamaica, put on board said ship for the pursuer one puncheon of rum. Murray entered it as only 80 gallons at the Leith Custom House, and action is brought for the value of the difference between these two amounts. vol. 48, pp. 595-642
- 1756, Oct. 29. John Adams, merchant and mason in Glasgow, agt. William Macfarlane, sailor on the St. George man-of-war, for £5-1-5¾ sterling, with interest, the value of 19½ yards broad muslin which he sold for the pursuer in Jamaica. vol. 48, pp. 930-933
- 1756, Dec. 21. John Carmichael, merchant in Edinburgh, agt. George Seaman, merchant in South Carolina, for £139-13-10 sterling, with interest, for goods furnished. vol. 49, pp. 14-53
- 1757, Oct. 7 and Nov. 11. Alexander McDougall, auditor's clerk in Exchequer, agt. Robert Bailley and John McKenna, Edinburgh merchants, and Walter Scott, shipmaster and master of the ship the Elizabeth and Peggy of Leith, for money due on a shipment of goods sent to Carolina. vol. 49, pp. 1293-1534
- 1760, July 8. Claud Alexander, Esq., of Newton, agt. James Johnston and John Hood (later this is spelled Wood), late Glasgow merchants, now of Virginia, for money due on a shipment of goods sent to the James River in Virginia in the Joanna of Glasgow, and for several other adventures in which they were jointly concerned.

(This case is continued on Oct. 3.) vol. 50; in this and the subsequent volumes, the pages are not numbered.

1761, April 7, July 28, and Oct. 20. William Taite, late carpenter on the Molly of Glasgow, for himself and as attorney or trustee for other members of the crew of the said ship, agt. Captain John Douglas, commander of the Molly, Collin Dunlop and Andrew Buchannan, Glasgow merchants, and James and George Buchannan, Glasgow merchants, sons of Andrew Buchannan, for wages due on a voyage from Leith to St. Christopher and for their share in a French ship captured on the return voyage.

The following letter was offered as evidence in the trial. Captain John Douglass to Adam Faireholm, banker in Edinburgh, and Duncan Pollock, shipmaster in Leith, Sept. 19, 1757:

"I take this opportunity of a ship for Amsterdam Informing you of our good luck, of taking a scow from Martanico to Bordeaux, Loaden to Coffee, Cotton and Sugar which I hope she will be arrived with you, before this gett to you, she's about one hundred and ffourty tunns no Gunns Three Gentlemen passengers, and thirteen men belonging to her, she's a New England built vessell, very weell found in Rigging, and sails. Her hull looks to be new repaired. The above Snow had just taken a Virginia sloop, on our appearing she left her, after having made the said sloop come on board with their boat. Gave chase to the Snow the ffourteenth instant, made her good." . . . vol. 50

1762, May 11. Robert Tod, William Tod, junior, and Alexander Hepburn, Edinburgh merchants, John Tod, carpenter in Leith, Richard Tod, merchant in Leith, trustees of Oliver Tod, Edinburgh merchant, agt. Charles Tod, sometime merchant in Kingston, Jamaica, now captain in the service of the East India Company, and Archibald Tod of Hayfield, for money due on goods consigned by Oliver Tod, deceased, to John and Charles Tod in company, merchants in Kingston, Jamaica. vol. 50

1763, Dec. 6. The British Linnen Company and George Goldie, their present manager, agt. William Hunter, peuterer in Edinburgh, and his wife, Alexander Ritchie, merchant in Edinburgh, and wife, Jean Russell, mantua maker in Edinburgh, James and William Herriot, sons of James Herriot, deceased, of Edinburgh.

Action is brought against the panel^{2a} as executors of the estate of Dr. William Horseburgh, of New Providence, deceased, at whose order six trunks of linen were shipped to him on board the Sequeiries (?) via South Carolina, and who died before payment was made. vol. 50

1765, June 28. William Gilchrist, junior, merchant in Kilmarnock, and John Glen of Assloss³ agt. James Dunlop, Glasgow merchant.

John Glen assigned to William Gilchrist his interest in six hogsheads of tobacco, sent by Gardner Fleeming, merchant in Virginia, on board the Agnes, and consigned to Dunlop. Dunlop sold the tobacco, but did not make the necessary payment resulting therefrom to Gilchrist. The action is brought to recover payment. vol. 51

1765, July 19. Peter Paterson, writer in Glasgow, agt. John Tennant in the Island of St. Christophers, merchant.

William Cunningham made over to John Paterson, who in turn made over to Peter Paterson, a note of hand of James Ogilvie in St. Croix for £329-6-1 currency. John Tennant collected payment on the note and paid part of it to Peter Paterson, who now brings action for the balance with interest.

vol. 51

A further decret in this case appears in vol. 51 on July 26, 1765.

1765, July 26. Alexander House, late one of the crew of the Sally, and Thomas Dallas, surgeon at Musselburgh, appointed by the judge his curator, agt. David Lock, merchant in Leith.

The Sally, bound on a voyage to the Madeiras and thence to the Havannah, or some other port in the West Indies, was taken by a French frigate, and the pursuer was kept by the French, in accordance with an arrangement made by the two captains, as "ransomer and hostage to the enemy, . . . for security for £700" which was to be given the French captain for ransom of ship and cargo. At Port Lewis, this frigate proving unfit for further service, House was put on another French ship en route for France. While lying in a creek off New York harbor, he swam to an English ship lying near. After other adventures he arrived in Leith. He brings action for £50 wages and expenses and for £300 as a solatium for "his terrible confinement and other hardships."

vol. 51

1765, Nov. 15. John Ross, London merchant, and James McGibbon, brewar in Portsburgh of Edinburgh, his trustee, agt. William Dunbar of Machriemore in Antegoa for £915-11-6 sterling, with interest, on a bill of exchange given for that amount.

vol. 51

1767, July 3. Thomas Crawford, London merchant, presently in Edinburgh, and John Neall, Edinburgh merchant, his trustee, agt. David Freebairn, merchant in Kingston, Jamaica, and William Noble, shipmaster in Port Glasgow, for goods furnished to be sent to Jamaica.

vol. 52

1767, Aug. 14. William Murray, Edinburgh merchant, agt. Donald Edie, shipmaster, and David Loch, merchant in Leith, for money received from a Charlestown merchant, Robert Boyd, for goods shipped there, in the Helen of Leith.

vol. 52

1769, Aug. 1. James Hutton, Leith merchant, accountant, manager, and partner of the Leith Roperie Company, agt. Alexander Cunningham and Cornelius Elliot, clerks to the Signet, James Montgomery, H. M.'s advocate, Andrew Ronaldson of Blairhall, and William Bell, Leith merchant, for a balance due on ropes and sails purchased for the use of the Edinburgh, which was shipwrecked on a voyage to Jamaica, but insured to her full value.

The defendants are the nearest kin of Michael Ancrum, Edinburgh merchant. He and John McLean, Kingston merchant, both deceased, owned the Edinburgh.

vol. 53

1769, April 11 and August 18. Thomas Carnegy, brewer in Canongate, Edinburgh, agt. Archibald McLarty, shipmaster in Greenock.

John Welsh, a Jamaica merchant, had a son by Janet Chapman; both she and the child lived at the home of the pursuer, and for their maintenance Welsh often remitted sums of money. At last being in a financial position to afford it, and being "wearied of the Black Completion," he sends for Janet Chapman to come to Jamaica as his housekeeper. Money for this purpose he remits through Mr. McLarty of the Britannia, whose owners, however, objected to Janet as a passenger on their ship. Carnegy brings action for the £20 or £25 which Welsh had instructed McLarty to advance on account of her. vol. 53

1769, Dec. 29. Alexander Kennedy, merchant in Ayr, agt. David Hunter, late merchant in Ayr, afterwards in Virginia, for goods sold to Mr. Hunter and taken by him to Virginia to dispose of. This Hunter did, but makes no return of his sales to the pursuer. vol. 53

1770, Jan. 16. John Kennedy, master and part owner of the brigantine Carolina, and William McCree, Glasgow merchant, his attorney, agt. James Tulloch McFie, mate, John Duncan, George Scruton, William Potts, Solomon Strong, John Linguist, and Hugh Affan, all late sailors of the Carolina.

This ship went on a voyage from Liverpool to the coast of Guinea and then to Maryland. Here a cargo of tobacco was loaded, the above crew engaged as so much per run, to replace others who had died. On the way back to Liverpool, the ship was wrecked and the cargo, all but two hogsheads, too damaged to sell. Hence "no Freight was earn'd, and consequently no wages was due to the sailors." In Liverpool the crew had Kennedy arrested and he was imprisoned for eight days. vol. 53

1771, July 26. Messrs. Bogle, Sommerville, and Company, merchants in Glasgow, agt. James Coulter, Thomas Scott, and John Shortridge, Glasgow merchants, and Messrs. Clay and Midgely, Liverpool merchants, for cost, freight, etc., due on 100 barrels of flour shipped on board the Northumberland by the pursuer's factor at Virginia. On arriving at Liverpool, that port being then (1769) closed against the importation of flour, it was put on board another ship and sent to Dublin. This was done without notifying or obtaining the consent of the pursuer. vol. 54

1774, March 4. John Alston, Glasgow merchant, agt. James Hepburn and Joseph Montford, merchants in Cape Fair [Fear], for payment for goods furnished Messrs. James Hepburn and Company, merchants in North Carolina. vol. 55

1775, Jan. 20. John Dick, carpenter at Airth, agt. James Addison, junior, merchant in Bo'ness, for wages due on Patrick Cowan's ship, the Christian, on a voyage from Airth to Virginia in 1772. Addison is the representative of Cowan, deceased. vol. 55

1775, Aug. 4. John McKinnon, sometime merchant in the Bay of Honduras, now in London, and William McDonald, writer to the Signet, his attorney, agt. Roger Gale, merchant in the Bay of Honduras.

McKinnon and Gale were partners in the business of logwood traders in Honduras. During the term of their co-partnership all business was to be done to the mutual advantage of both. Gale, however, brought down a ship from New York, laden with goods with which he did a considerable trade, and in similar ways disregarded his agreement. A brigantine of Gale's, the Benjamin of Honduras, while lying in Leith harbor, was seized by the pursuer, who brings action for his share in the private transactions of Gale.

vol. 55

1774, June 3 and Sept. 13, and 1775, Sept. 22. William Allan, sometime carpenter on the Beverly of Glasgow, and several seamen on said ship, agt. John Graham Baillie, John Gray, Peter or Patrick Mitchell, Glasgow merchants, and James Miller, Virginia merchant, for wages due on a voyage on said ship in 1761-1762 from the Clyde to Virginia and return. vol. 55

1776, March 12. Duncan Thomson, mariner in Greenock, agt. Thomas Ramsay, shipmaster in Greenock, for damages sustained in being pressed into service on the Salisbury ship of war by Ramsay, while on a voyage on the Peggy to Boston. vol. 55

1776, April 2. James Reid Smith of Port Glasgow agt. William Miller, shipbuilder in Wilmington, North Carolina, for money due for materials, etc. vol. 55

1776, April 16 and June 7. James Hamilton, late mate, James Crawford, late carpenter, and James McKinnon, late sailor, all on board the Rae Galley, agt. William Morrison, James Taylor and Company, merchants in Greenock, for wages due on a voyage from "Greenock to the Lewis, from thence to Philadelphia, thereafter to Jamaica, and from thence to the Bay of Honduras and back to Greenock." These two entries occur:

"Receipt by John Foulis for Long boat dated Savanna Georgia 4 June 1774", and

"Greenock 10 August 1775. We the Under-subscribers do hereby Certify that we know it to be the custom and practice of Ships destined from the Bay of Honduras to call at Cork for orders and their putting into Cork is never considered as any deviation from the Voyage (Signd) John Buchanan, George Buchanan, junior, Stephen Rowan." vol. 55

1776, June 7. Hugh Ross, junior, silversmith in Tayne [Tain], agt. David Ross, town clerk of Tayne, and Charles Ross, late merchant in Tayne, now residing at Smithfield in Virginia, for money due. (No explanation as to why.) vol. 55

1776, Nov. 1. Matthew Squire, Esquire, commander of H. M. sloop of war Otter, James Wardrop on board the Betsey schooner, prize, his agent and trustee, with concurrence of Mr. John Monro, procurator fiscal of court, agt. Thomas Newman, late master of the Betsey schooner, and all others having interest in it, asking the Betsey to be adjudged his lawful prize and property.

The Betsey was bound from Ipswich in Massachusetts Bay for some southern colony, when she was captured within the capes of Virginia.

"These may Certify whom it may concern that Thos. Newman master of the Schooner Betsey burden Fifty Tons hath here taken on board said vessel one Hd. of Rum and also Two hund'd pounds of Cash in continental Bills bound for some of the Southern Colonies for the purpose of purchasing grain and hath given Bond to Land his Cargo in some one of the United Colonies, the ports of Boston and Nantucket excepted, and further the said Newman is recommended to the Good people of the said Colonies by the Committee of this Town as a hearty friend to his Country and it is earnestly desired that he may be assisted in purchasing a Cargo as soon as may be. (Signd) David Noyes, pr order of the Committee of Correspon'ce of Ipswich Province of the Massah. Bay. Ipswich Jan'y eighth 1776."

The capture was made in accordance with the Act of Parliament forbidding trade with the revolting colonies. vol. 55

1777, June 6. Messrs. Hamilton, Wallace, and Company, merchants in Greenock, agt. William Millar, shipbuilder in Wilmington, North Carolina, for money due for materials purchased, one fourth share of the brigantine Hunter, etc. vol. 56

There is another entry of this case in this same volume dated 1777, June 20, and again one dated July 18 and Aug. 22, 1777.

1777, Aug. 1. John Frazer, shipbuilder in Newton upon Air, John Smith, ship-master there, and James Montgomery, tacksman of the Newton coal, agt. Robert Ferguson of Castlehill and David Cochran, now merchant in Virginia.

The defender failed to fulfill the conditions of the charter party entered into with the pursuer, owners of the brigantine, the Friendship of Ayr, by which they were to take a cargo of coals, on said ship, to Virginia and return with a cargo of tobacco, or other suitable commodity, paying the pursuer an agreed freight charge. Action is brought for payments still due. vol. 56

1778, June 30. John Eiston, writer in Edinburgh, agt. John Armstrong, sometime writer in Edinburgh, now in Jamaica, Alexander Drysdale, Mrs. Isabel Douglas, James Hamilton, Alexander Allan, Henry Arnot, Thomas Brown, Captain David Wood, James Gilkie, Andrew Marshall, James Hay, David Johnston, John Trotter, younger, and Lieut. Robert Douglas, for money owing on bills. vol. 56

1778, April 24. John Gilchrist, carpenter, sometime on board the Benjamin of the Bay of Honduras, Roger Gale, merchant there, owner, and Samuel Watson, one of the procurators of court, his trustee, agt. Roger Gale of the Bay of Honduras for wages due. vol. 58

1778, June 19 and Sept. 25. John Monro, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. William Sextroh, late master of the Minerva, and his mate.

This ship was captured under the law forbidding trade with the rebellious colonies. It was a trading vessel from Charlestown, South Carolina, bound for Gottenburg.

Captain George Innes, of the Sally of Greenock, on a voyage out to New York, "after a very obstinate engagement for the space of three glasses", was taken, Apr. 11, by the Weaford, an American privateer, belonging to Newberry [Newbury] in New England, John Fletcher commander. Some time later the Weaford, Captain Innes being on board the said privateer, spoke the ship Minerva of and from Charlestown, William Sextroh, master, bound to Gottenburg and laden with tobacco, rice, indigo, and logwood. Captain Sextroh having complained to the commander of the privateer of want of men to navigate his vessel, the Minerva, Captain Fletcher allowed Captain Innes, four of his men and a boy to go on board the Minerva to assist in its navigation. On May 7, Captain Innes, his people, and some of the Minerva crew who joined him, took the command from Captain Sextroh and brought her, with the rest of the crew, fifteen hands, and one lady passenger, into Greenock, arriving there May 13.

Admitted as evidence are the invoice of goods, certificate of ownership of the Minerva, and a letter from David Bordeaux of Charlestown, whose tobacco was a part of the cargo, to John Vandervolt of Gottenburg, April 4, 1778, in which he states that "Such has been the scarcity of Dry Goods in these United States and particularly in this that they will now bring from Ten to Fifteen hundred on the European Cost. The African Trade which is at present prohibited, will in a little time, as soon as the prohibition is taken off, become a branch of Commerce of Great importance, and as I understand you are considerably connected in that branch of Business, I shall take upon me to give you the earliest intelligence after the prohibition ceases." vol. 58

1778, June 26. Sommerville, Gordon, and Company, merchants in Glasgow, agt. William and Matthew Lewis, planters in Jamaica, for payment on a note, which had been protested, given by the defenders to Captain James Wallace and indorsed by him to the pursuers. vol. 56

(There is another action dealing with this case in this vol., 1778, July 10.)

1778, Sept. 11. David Gibb, sometime sailor on board the Jenny, and Thomas Reid, tailor in Bo'ness, his attorney, agt. Peter Lawson, merchant in Bo'ness, for wages due on a voyage taken from Cork to the West Indies. Lawson had agreed to insure the pursuer's wages on this voyage. The Jenny was wrecked on this voyage. vol. 56

1778, Oct. 30. William Cunningham, Glasgow merchant, owner of the Prince of Wales, and James McLean, commander, with concurrence of John Monro, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. Jonathan Clark, comander of the sloop Eclipse of Baltimore. While cruising in the Bay of Biscay, the Prince of Wales came up with and captured the Eclipse, then on her way from Maryland to Bordeaux with a cargo of tobacco. vol. 56

1779, April 27 and June 11. A petition in the name of Alexander Ogilvy, Leith merchant, part owner of the ship John of Leith, that it may be returned to him.

The John was built in New England for some Greenock merchants in 1774, and was for a time used as a transport in the government service. About the end of March, 1778, it was fitted out as a letter of marque, and sailed for New York, but was captured on the way and taken into a New England port. A ship called the Monmouth which sailed from Casco Bay, New England, in the past winter bound for France, was seized by some of the crew and brought into Glasgow. This ship, they believe, is the John of Leith, for which proof will be submitted. vol. 57

1779, July 2. John Monro, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. William Farris, late commander of the Monmouth.

Seven other entries of the same date.

vol. 57

1779, Aug. 27. Robert Stewart, commander and part owner of the Tynecastle, with concurrence of John Monro, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. John Vinary, commander of the sloop Charlotte of Philadelphia. The Tynecastle, fitted out with a letter of marque, on a cruise, overtook and captured the Charlotte bound for Cadiz loaded with ten hogshead of tobacco and some slaves. Pursuer asks that it be adjudged a lawful prize and his property.

vol. 57

1779, Sept. 10. A petition of William Morrison and Company, Greenock merchants, owners of the brig Hero, letter of marque, for proofs of her capturing, etc., determining salvage due them.

The Hero retook the Elephant which had been in the government service at New York and had been captured by the Mifflin, a Boston privateer. vol. 57

1779, Oct. 8. Alexander Simpson, merchant taylor in Edinburgh, agt. Doctor Dennis Dorsey, sometime student of physic in the University of Edinburgh, now in America, for money owing. vol. 58

1780, Jan. 28. Neil Campbell, shipmaster in Port Glasgow, agt. Charles Wightman and Archibald Smith, merchants in the island of Tobago, for money due on a promissory note. They failed to fulfill their agreement to deliver to Captain Peter Campbell, of the John brig, produce to the amount of £279-8-11 sterling for which their note was given. vol. 57

1780, April 21. James Scott of Scalloway, Esq., and David Forbes, writer in Edinburgh, his agent and trustee, agt. Lieut. Charles Hunter, Esq., of Burnside, late of the Africa, now of the Jupiter tender. In a condemnation suit in the High Court of Admiralty against Moses Grinnell, master of the Sally and Beckey of Boston, the defender was ordered to pay to the pursuer, as having been first in possession of the said ship before he was forcibly turned out by the defender, £200 sterling, which he has so far failed to do. vol. 57

1780, June 23. Robert Lee, merchant in Greenock, as factor for and in the name and behalf of the master, officers, and crew of the privateer Endeavour of Glasgow, agt. Messrs. William Thomson and Whyte.

The Endeavour, under the command of Captain Alexander Taylor, made a prize of La Jeune Agathe bound from St. Domingo to France. The defenders, owners of the privateer, have refused to pay the pursuer the amounts due from this capture and awarded them by the court. vol. 57

A further action in this case appears in vol. 58 (1780, Nov. 28), and in vol. 59, (1783, Jan. 17, Feb. 28).

1780, Aug. 11. Captain John Hastie, commander of the Hawke privateer of Greenock, and John Kippen, merchant there, for himself and the other owners of the said privateer, with the concurrence of the procurator fiscal, agt. Abraham Newell, mate of the American vessel Lively.

The Lively of Massachusetts, en route from Newbury, Mass., to Guadeloupe, with a cargo of fish, staves, and shingles, was captured in June by the Hawke. Pursuers ask to have it condemned as a prize. The Hawke carried a letter of marque. vol. 57

1780, Sept. 15. Captain John Hastie, commander of the Hawke privateer, of Greenock, and John Kippen, merchant there, for himself and the other owners of the Hawke, with concurrence of the procurator fiscal, John Monro, Esq., agt. Samuel Lord, late mate of the brigantine Jolly Tar, which the pursuers ask to be condemned as a prize.

The Jolly Tar was captured while en route from Piscataqua, New Hampshire, to St. Martin in the West Indies. She was laden with 36,000 feet of board, plank, and joists, 10,000 hogshead staves, and 30,000 shingles. vol. 57

1780, Nov. 21. Robert Dunmore and Company, merchants in Glasgow, agt. William Dawes Quarrel, Esquire, of Hanover, Jamaica, for money owing. vol. 57

1781, Jan. 16. Francis Russel, late chief mate of the brigantine Chance of Greenock, agt. William and James Donalds, merchants, for themselves and partners under the firm of William and James Donalds and Company, and John Campbell and ——— Thomson, merchants and co-partners under the firm of Campbell and Thomson, all of Greenock, for the salvage due him for re-capturing the Chance from the Providence sloop, a Boston privateer. vol. 58 (first case entered)

1781, Jan. 29 and April 10. James Gammell and Company, Greenock merchants, agt. Robert Miller, late master of the Nancy of Leith, for money owing for freight, etc., due on a charter party agreement made at St. Christopher between John Dean, master of the brigantine Ajax, and Robert Miller. By this agreement Dean was to take on board the Ajax the Nancy's cargo of sugar, rum, and cotton, and bring it to London. Dean placed Miller in charge of the Ajax, who performed the journey, but did not make the necessary payments to the pursuers who owned the brigantine. vol. 58

1781, April 24. Messrs. Hamilton, McIver, and Company, Greenock merchants, agents for the privateer Tarleton and part owners, for themselves and the other owners, and Alexander Taylor, master of the said privateer, with concurrence of John Monro, Esquire, procurator fiscal of court, agt. Captain George Buchanan, commander of the American ship Tom Lee of Baltimore, asking that it be adjudged a prize. The Tom Lee, laden with 140 hogsheads of tobacco, was en route to Nantz when captured. vol. 58

1781, Sept. 21. James Margetson, London merchant, Messrs. Ramsay, Williamson, and Company, Leith merchants, his attorneys, with concurrence of John Monro, Esquire, advocate, procurator fiscal of the High Court of Admiralty,

agt. Thomas Skinner, late chief mate on board the brigantine Gustavus of Philadelphia, asking that the Gustavus may be adjudged a prize, etc.

The Gustavus, laden with tobacco, beef, and pork, and bread for sea stores, while en route from Philadelphia to Marstrand, Sweden, and return, was captured on its return voyage by the Lively brig, fitted as a privateer, Willis Marshall, commander, and owned by the pursuers. vol. 58

1781, June 15. John Ross, late merchant in Lochbroom, now of Nova Scotia, presently residing in Edinburgh, agt. Mr. Joseph Monro, minister of the gospel at Edertown [Edderton], for money owing on rum purchased from the pursuer.

John Ross had a cargo of rum on board the Peggy bound from St. Croix in the West Indies to North Faro. The Peggy, however, was wrecked at Torrisdale where Mr. Monro intromitted with and purchased some of the rum.

vol. 58

1781, Oct. 5. James Margetson, London merchant, and Messrs. Ramsay, Williamson, and Company, Leith merchants, his attorneys, with concurrence of John Monro, Esquire, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. William Gibbons, master, and Thomas Cleghorn, mate of the snow Four Friends of Boston, asking that she be adjudged a prize, etc.

The brig Lively of London, fitted as a privateer, Willis Marshall, commander, off Shetland, captured the Four Friends, laden with dry goods en route from Amsterdam to Boston. The snow Sara and Rebecca, now called the Four Friends, was bought by William Gibbons in Amsterdam for James Bowdoin, junior, Benjamin Clark, Jonathan Mason, and Herman and Andrew Brimmer, Boston merchants. vol. 58

1781, Oct. 19. James Margetson, London merchant, and Messrs. Ramsay, Williamson, and Company, Leith merchants, his attorneys, with concurrence of John Monro, Esquire, advocate, procurator fiscal of court, agt. Moses Grinnell, late commander of the brigantine Becky and Harriot of Boston, asking that she be adjudged a prize, etc.

The Becky and Harriot carried to Amsterdam a cargo of flax seed, pot and pearl ashes, elephants' teeth, and sassafras. On her return journey, laden with dry goods, off Shetland, she was captured by the Lively, owned by the pursuers. vol. 58 1782, June 21. Andrew Thomson, Glasgow merchant, agt. William Snodgrass, sometime merchant in Glasgow, now in North America, for money owing as a partner in a business.

Andrew Thomson, William Snodgrass, George McCaull, Glasgow merchant, James and Samuel Crawford, Greenock merchants, and Archibald Bryce and John Snodgrass, Virginia merchants, Feb. 25, 1778, formed a co-partnership for carrying on business in stores in Richmond, Virginia. vol. 58

1782, Sept. 4. Isobel Syme of Greenock agt. Archibald Greig, late commander of the Ceres, for wages due to and belongings of her husband now deceased, on a voyage performed from St. Christopher to Greenock. vol. 58

1783, June 24. Alexander Ogilvy, Leith merchant, for himself and other agents of the Sally and Becky of Boston, prize to H. M.'s tender Affrica, agt. Lieutenant Charles Hunter, late commander of the Affrica, George Whitehead, master, Thomas Thomson, pilot, James Hyslop, surgeon, Ralph Cook, master's mate, Anne Wallace, relict of David Kirkaldie, midshipman, all on board the said Affrica's tender, concerning the proper distribution and time of payment of the prize money due the defenders for the capture of the Sally and Becky.

PREFATORY NOTE

In compiling the following list of manuscript collections in the Library of Congress, those described in the Handbook of Manuscripts (1918), in the librarian's reports, 1918 to 1930, and in the accession records of the division of manuscripts were epitomized, and then divided according to six periods of American history. Collections covering more than one period were entered under every period to which they referred. The nomenclature of the Handbook was followed throughout, and no attempt was made to relist or summarize the material described therein under certain broad classifications, such as "America, British," "Journals and Diaries," or "United States Revolution," but additions to these classes since 1918 were noted under these captions. The list includes every important accession up to July, 1931. Those which are described in the librarian's reports are noted by the letters "LR" followed by the date of the report and the page on which they are described. Small collections not described in the reports are noted by the year in which they were received, in parenthesis, placed after the description of the collection.

The descriptions have been reduced to a minimum. For all but the more famous characters, a mention of their chief position in life follows the name. A bare statement of the kind of material, the inclusive dates, and the number of volumes or portfolios, is all that can be given in a list of this sort. When the collection is known to be complete or nearly so, this fact is denoted by the term "papers," while the term "correspondence" denotes that parts of the collection are elsewhere or lost. Small collections containing but few manuscripts are listed, if they are deemed of sufficient importance to form a separate group, otherwise they belong to the "personal miscellany" and are not included in this list. Literal accuracy had sometimes to be sacrificed to give a true picture of what the investigator might expect to find; as, when the first few manuscripts in a collection antedate the real body of material by many years, they were disregarded, and the date of the first one in a real historical sequence was taken as the beginning. This often occurs, since every family will gather precious family deeds or like documents generations before their own, and usually these have no real significance for the historian. Where their importance warranted, they were mentioned.

No attempt has been made to include transcripts and photostats from foreign archives, except in a few special cases, for these do not fit into this scheme, but require a separate description. It is deemed best to defer this description until the extensive reproducing now being carried on by means of the Rockefeller grant of 1927 is completed.

The publication of a complete list necessarily means the inclusion of many collections of a very recent date, but it is of course realized that much of this can not be thrown open to students, especially the collections of men now in public life. For an understanding of the term "restricted" after any collection, application should be made to the division of manuscripts.

Grateful acknowledgment is made to Dr. J. Franklin Jameson, chief of the manuscript division, for his advice, consultation, and corrections. Mr. J. J. de Porry, assistant in the division, gave valued aid, and my mother, her constant help.
